

Union says it warned GC Steel of danger before 11 were burned here

Granite City Steel officials were warned in advance by union members of problems which contributed to the injuring of 11 men working at the mill one week ago, according to a statement issued Friday by Gerald Teller, president of United Steel Workers of America Local 16. GC Steel officials say they will not respond to the allegations.

Teller said that he personally talked to Theodore Kocot, assistant superintendent of the BOF (basic oxygen furnaces) Department at the mill in January about the danger of standing water in the bottom of the hot metal hole and an emergency hole. Kocot was among those burned when a ladle of molten metal fell from the 164 hot metal crane from about 35 feet in the air down into the emergency hot metal hole, where molten metal came into contact with the water in the bottom of the hole and exploded, according to Teller.

WHEN MOLTEN steel comes into contact with water, the water tends to cool the steel into a solid "jacket" around the water. The heat of the remaining steel turns the water inside the jacket into steam, creating a "bomb" when the steam creates sufficient pressure to break the jacket.

Teller contends there were "two extremely loud explosions causing 11 employees to be hurt. Five of them were hospitalized, two of them hurt extremely badly and they are at the present time in St. John's Mercy Medical Center in the burn unit," George Key, 27, Edwardsville, and Wayne M. Fry, 27, of Granite City.

Teller states, "The union believes the two large explosions were caused mainly due to water being in the bottom of the hot metal hole. A short time after the explosions, Jerry Yeager and I inspected the regular hot metal hole, which is about 25 feet from the emergency hole, and found there was water in it."

"THE UNION, as well as the employees working in the area around the hot metal holes have complained to the company in the last several years about water being in both of these holes and about the fear of explosions if molten metal would ever get into either of the holes for any reason at all," Teller's statement said.

He says in January, he recommended to Kocot that several water pump points be driven into the bottom of the holes to pump the water out and to keep them dry. "He told me he didn't think it would work," Teller said in his statement to the press.

He continued, "The union believes the ladle fell from a crane due to a failure in the steel pulling apart from the north end of the ladle, causing the hanger to fall from it and then causing the ladle of molten metal to fall into the hot metal hole as the crane was traveling north over the hot metal hole. This all took place shortly after George Key skinned the metal at the skimming station."

"I HAVE requested that the company X-ray (the union's terminology) the balls on all of the BOF molten metal crane balls, as well as the mold foundry ladle crane balls. The company has agreed to do so," Teller says.

He noted that on Thursday, he was told by a BOF millwright that the bales on the 105 hot metal crane had cracks in it. Teller notified the company and was told that the company knew the cracks were in it. "On that same evening, the company had those cracks welded by the BOF welder," he added.

The Press-Record told Dan Hines, public relations spokesman for the Granite City Steel division of National Steel Corp., about Teller's allegations Friday and Hines said, "We won't have any response on that."

THE FEDERAL Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) is investigating the cause of last week's accident, along with company and union officials.

Report shows pool disrepair

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Granite City Park District Commissioners apparently will try to keep the Wilson Park pool operating this summer with "quick fix" repairs.

An engineering report last week revealed some repairs must be made for safety and sanitary reasons, but it recommended much more extensive renovations.

COMMISSIONERS have long been aware the pool was in need of renovation. They are stymied, however, on how they can continue to afford costly repairs at the expense of other already-delayed park projects. The general opinion at the board's engineering committee meeting Friday afternoon was to give the pool temporary repairs as cheaply as possible for about $20,000 to $30,000.

The consulting engineering report suggests repairs ranging from approximately $45,000 to $100,000. The price does not include mechanical repairs.

After the full board makes a final decision Wednesday on how extensive the pool renovations will be, it may then return the issue of any further repairs back to the public through a series of public meetings.

"IF YOU go to the public and they don't want it (pool) fixed, fill it up with dirt," Commissioner Jack Hood told the engineering committee. He later said, "Let the people know this is the last time we could afford to go to the well."

According to the report prepared by Engineer R. W. MacDermott, all the same problems are present at the pool that he found during his 1978 inspection. In addition, other problems have appeared.

His visual survey of the pool bottom revealed loose caulking and failure of 30 percent of the bottom joints, allowing water leakage to occur.

THE REPORT states minimal repairs to the pool should include re-caulking of pool bottom slabs, joints, sealing wall cracks to eliminate paint cracks and unsightly conditions, fixing possibly dangerous pool guttering and replacing deck slabs to provide for greater safety and sanitation.

"A great problem exists in the fact that, to put this 43-year-old pool into top condition would entail a major expenditure of money and further become a major renovation and subject all work to comply with all of the state of Illinois requirements for swimming pool design, which would entail further costs. The total cost would be less than that of a new pool (but) it would still be an old renovated pool—not a new pool."

Commissioners have been postponing major renovations or construction of a new pool, since both would require a bond issue. In 1978, the board was criticized after proposing a $1.7 million bond issue, which included plans for a $1.2 million surf-making pool. The project concerned some opposing higher taxes, while others objected to possibly larger crowds that might be drawn to Wilson Park.

THE BOARD does not seem any more optimistic that a bond issue would now be acceptable to park residents.

Barry Loman said the public probably will not be ready to pass a bond issue for the next five years, due to local economic conditions.

Hood suggested a written survey be sent to local residents to determine what they want to do. "We're not saying we're going to do anything, but tell them we only have a limited amount of money."

Commissioner John "Jeff" Worthen, finance chairman, suggested a proposed citizens' advisory committee be formed. Worthen told the engineering committee that repairs alone to the pool have swallowed $96,000 since the 1970s, while other park improvements continue to be delayed.

MACDERMOTT is expected to answer commissioners' questions at a 7 p.m. meeting Wednesday concerning the minimal amount of repairs needed at the pool. A mechanical report on the pool filtering system also should be presented at that time.

Barton must stand trial, judges decide

Charges against James W. Barton of Granite City, Madison County supervisor of assessments, are to be reinstated.

The Appellate Court at Mount Vernon voted unanimously Thursday to reverse Chief Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson's May 1983 dismissal of the case.

THE JUDGE said that prosecutorial misconduct, including public comments about Barton, had made a fair trial impossible. State's Attorney Don W. Weber repeatedly expressed confidence that the dismissal would be overturned, and his prediction proved to be correct.

The 5th Appellate District decision enables the charges to be revived and the trial to proceed.

INDICTMENTS alleged bribery, official misconduct and conspiracy. The "indictments" were related to forwarding of a $500 campaign contribution from William Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area land owner, to "Walter" "Shag" Greathouse, a county zoning appeals board member and president of the Metro-East Sanitary District.

Nichols has been granted immunity from prosecution.

BARTON SAYS he is innocent of wrongdoing and is continuing to perform his assessment duties, with two years of a four-year appointive term remaining.

In another investigation instigated by Weber, a grand jury currently is studying assessment procedures, including those related to new-car dealers.

Weber is a candidate for re-election March 20.

Twister! TORNADO TIPS TO SAVE YOUR LIFE

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

Although remnants still are evident of last week's blizzard-like snowstorm which dumped 12 to 14 inches of heavy wet snow on the Quad-City area, the primary weather concerns immediately at hand focus on the start of the tornado season in Illinois.

This week is Illinois Tornado Preparedness Week and a state-wide tornado exercise will be conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday, March 6, including the sounding of the Granite City siren network.

STILL FRESH in the minds of many local residents is the frightening experience of last year's devastating tornado that ripped through sections of Granite City on May 1.

Traveling across the Mississippi River from the southwest, the twister cut a wide swath through the industrial area west of Granite City, severely damaging two plants and the Tri-City Regional Port District.

The tornado continued into Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, ripping apart Central Hardware and collapsing the roof on Tri-Mor Bowl, before moving into the residential Namecki area.

There, the destructive wind force destroyed homes, damaged other business places, toppled a church steeple, downed power lines and disrupted life in general.

SOME OF THOSE directly affected by the 1983 tornado continue to credit the minimum number of injuries (less than 20 reported) and no loss of life to a second activation of the emergency siren network moments before the tornado struck.

It was the second signal which alerted them to take extra precautions, people reported.

In coordination with the state-wide exercise, the Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (Civil Defense) will conduct its annual tornado drill Tuesday.

44-digit lottery in mid-April

The Illinois State Lottery Control Board has approved changing the play of the lotto game by requiring players to select six numbers out of 44 rather than the current six numbers out of 40.

The board this week also approved eliminating the lotto game's alternate grand prize and raising the limits at which annuities are purchased for lotto winners from $250,000 to the actual cost of a 20-year $1 million minimum annuity.

The changes in lotto will become effective in mid-April. The board approved a test in Illinois of a lottery video game. The six-month test will begin in July.

Lotto Supt. Michael J. Jones told the board that selecting six numbers out of 44 will change the odds of matching all six winning numbers from approximately 1 in 1.35 million to 1 in 7,059 million.

He said this change is designed to make playing lotto more exciting and to increase the lotto grand prize amounts. He added that the amount of lotto sales currently paid back to winners in prizes—approximately 50 percent—will remain the same.

Jones said the popularity of lotto was primarily due to the dynamic nature of its grand prize, which can change and grow depending on the level of play and the number of winners.

The move to a 44-number game will change the possibility of winning a lotto prize from 1 in 222 to 1 in 328. It will mean that people who are lucky enough to win will win more money," he said.

A 44-number game would double the number of six-number combinations players can select, minimizing the possibility that many players would select the same combinations and share grand prizes.

Jones pointed out that alternate grand prize winners collect 20 percent of a drawing's grand prize pool. With elimination of the alternate grand prize, 100 percent of the grand prize pool will now be rolled over when there are no grand prize winners, helping increase grand prize pools.

In another effort to eliminate confusion among lotto players, the board approved paying all prizes in one lump cash payment, except when the prize is large enough to purchase a 20-year, $1 million minimum annuities. The cost of a $1 million, 20-year annuity is about $415,000 at present.

The board also approved a test of 300 player-activated lottery machines (Palms) throughout the state. Palms are video lottery game machines which will be placed in state-licensed taverns and other locations in which the age of customers is controlled.

Players insert $1 bill into the machine and select one of four participatory games of chance.

If a player wins the game, a printed paper receipt is dispensed to the player. Prizes will be claimed through the lottery's system of claim centers.

The Palms are being provided by Chicago-based Bally Manufacturing Corp. at no cost to the state. The lottery, however, will receive the revenue generated.

Purpose of the test is to determine how well the machines appeal to lottery players and agents.

Deteriorating streets concern Venice officials

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Deterioration of city streets and sidewalks prompted a discussion at a recent meeting of the Venice City Council.

Concern was expressed by several aldermen about the condition of various thoroughfares and Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. noted that vibrations could be felt in the area of Logan, Weaver and Meredocia from buses which travel through the area at considerable speed.

signs have been eliminated, the buses are able to travel three blocks without stopping, enabling them to get up some speed through the area. He suggested a letter be sent to Bi-State Transit System asking that drivers be more cautious.

"We're not saying we want to stop the buses, we are just saying that they are traveling too fast," Fourth Ward Alderman Charles Haynes said, responding to a comment from J. Alan Gardner, Venice city treasurer, who advised caution in advocating the restriction of bus traffic.

The discussion sparked several remarks concerning the general deterioration of various roads, including comments from First Ward Alderman Phillip Daniels and Mrs. Anna Godfrey, who resides on Main Street in Venice.

MRS. GODFREY said that heavy truck traffic along Main Street is causing cracks in the foundations of homes, which are more and more evident every day, plus amounts of dust and flyash in the roadway.

Noting that businesses on Main Street provide income for the city,

First Ward Alderman John Fleig advocated the thoroughfare be given priority in sweeping and repairs.

Mrs. Godfrey also suggested the city and the railroad enter into an agreement whereby the street could be paved.

"IF THE trucks from the railroad are damaging it, they should pay for repairing or paving the road," she maintained.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin noted, however, that the railroad provides a lot of revenue for the McKinley Bridge, a remark that was reaffirmed by Bridge Manager Tom Fields, who stated about 15 percent of the bridge traffic revenue is derived from the railroad trucks. (Most of the trucks referred to in the discussion are serving the Illinois Central Gulf's piggyback operation).

Mayor Tyrone Echols offered to meet with officials of the companies involved in trucking and railroad to try to work something out. "Maybe they can be encouraged to participate in paving the street. We don't have the money to do the job ourselves and prospects for getting it are dim, he said."

The mayor also pointed out that work is well under way on improvements at the Venice boat launching ramp on the Mississippi River, a project that is being funded with a $60,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Conservation.

the community will take part in the drill, including St. Elizabeth Medical Center, all local schools, weather watchers and police and fire services.

NORMAL AND EMERGENCY communication systems, warning and recovery capabilities in Granite City and all other areas of the state will be tested, he reported.

Tomorrow's exercise will be conducted in cooperation with the National Weather Service and the Illinois State Police.

The drill will be initiated by the National Weather Service and then broadcast via Illinois State Police frequency 42.5 Mhz and National Weather Service KDO 89 to Emergency Warning-Alert Radio receivers in thousands of schools, institutions, hospitals and factories statewide, Koenig said.

WHEN THE RECEIVERS are activated and the network of warning sirens sounds throughout this community, students in all public and parochial schools will be reminded of the drill procedure.

Most of the pupils will leave their classroom areas, moving away from the outside walls and windows. They also will avoid large rooms with roofs not supported in the middle, such as gymnasiums and, instead, will go to interior hallways.

Led by SEMC safety personnel, medical center staff members and patients also will participate in the drill.

AMBULATORY PATIENTS and floor personnel will move in to hallways. Drapes and curtains are to be closed around bedfast patients, and weather spotters will be stationed at strategic locations throughout the hospital.

Special attention will be paid to the continuity of vital communication systems, relating specifically to the amount of time needed to warn schools and the community at large, Koenig explained.

Precise time of the drill when the network of warning sirens will be activated here has not been formally announced in order to achieve some spontaneity in the test. However, state officials have established the time for the statewide drill at 10 a.m.

EACH YEAR, tornadoes kill hundreds of people. Thousands of homes are destroyed as whole buildings disappear and only their basements are left.

Illinois is located at the northeast edge of the most tornado-prone region of the world, according to the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency and the National Weather Service.

Since 1950, an average of 25 tornadoes has touched down across the state annually, although there have been as few as four in 1952 and 1933 and as many as 107 in 1974.

FOURTEEN TORNADOES hit Illinois in 1983. Twelve of the 14 hit during May and nine of those 12 were on May 1, the same day the twister struck Granite City.

Madison County has experienced 25 tornadoes since 1950 and the months of April, May and June account for 50 percent of all tornadoes in that time.

Although the life of a tornado is short and its destructive path can be small, while it is on the ground a tornado can cause considerable destruction of property and is capable of causing heavy loss of life.

THE ROTARY WINDS, usually turning counter-clockwise, can vary from under 100 miles per hour to speeds exceeding 300 miles per hour, a force capable of destroying solid buildings.

Tornadoes do their most destructive work through the combined action of their strong winds and flying debris, authorities said.

A tornado can make deadly missiles out of innocent objects, such as pieces of straw; it can uproot large trees and hurl people, animals, roofs and heavy machinery hundreds of yards.

MOST TORNADOES move from the southwest to the northeast, the same approach pattern as last May's twister here. They generally are funnel-shaped or rope-like clouds extending down from the base of a thunder cloud.

As it touches earth, the tornado writhes and twists, swirling debris in all directions. It is often accompanied by hail, violent thunderstorms and wind.

As many local residents can attest, its noise is so loud that it can blot out the sound of crashing buildings and falling trees.

WHEN SKIES LOOK threatening, listen to the radio, experts advise. The National Weather Service tracks all weather systems with sophisticated radar and is usually able to give adequate advance warning of violent weather conditions.

A "Tornado Watch" means atmospheric conditions are such that tornadoes could develop. At "Tornado Warning" means an actual funnel cloud has been sighted in the general area, and the Granite City warning sirens are sounded.

THERE IS NO "ALL CLEAR" signal and persons should remain in their basements or under protective covering until all danger is passed. A second warning signal can mean a tornado has been sighted approaching the community, since the first signal was activated, and danger is imminent.

Again, residents are being reminded, THERE IS NO "ALL CLEAR" SIGNAL.

When a watch is issued, listen to the broadcast advisories and be ready to take cover, emergency officials suggest.

It is wise to collect a battery-powered light and radio and have family members stay within earshot during the watch, they add.

TAKE CAR KEYS with you, they say, adding should a tornado hit the area, the vehicle may still be operable, but keys could be lost in the rubble.

When a tornado threatens, immediate action could save lives, it is being emphasized. Additional suggestions include:

Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls and protect your head.

In homes and small buildings go to the basement or a place in the middle of the house, like a closet, bathroom or interior hallway. Get under something sturdy.

IN SCHOOLS — be calm and follow the directions of the teacher. Get out of and stay away from auditoriums and gymnasiums with wide, huge roofs that could collapse.

In shopping centers or very large buildings, look for a pre-designated shelter. If none is available, a middle hallway on the lowest level is the next best place to take shelter.

IN MOBILE HOMES, don't be misled in believing that your mobile home is safe from tornadoes if it is secured by tie-down straps. These straps will offer some protection from straight-line winds, but not from the destructive rotary winds of a tornado.

Unfortunately there is no safe place to hide from a tornado in a mobile home. Your best protection upon being notified of a tornado warning will be achieved by quickly leaving the mobile home and finding a permanent structure in which to take shelter.

If no such structure is located nearby, find a depression in the ground, lie face down and cover your head with your hands. You are better off in a ditch than remaining in a mobile home, authorities state.

IF DRIVING, leave a vehicle also and seek shelter in a building. If none is close, again lie flat in the closest ditch, ravine or culvert with hands and arms shielding the head.

Most tornadoes last a relatively short period of time, about four or five minutes, and travel on the ground for two miles, on the average. The aftermath, however, can last for days and weeks.

It is advised to closely inspect your property, including automobiles, for damage. Check immediately for electrical problems and gas leaks and report them to utility companies or fire departments if danger is imminent.

HEAVY RAINS frequently follow a tornado, so secure your property from further damage or theft.

Take an inventory of the damage and contact your insurance company immediately afterward, if it is feasible. If you have not suffered damage, be a good neighbor and help those who need it, officials suggest.

Do not, however, telephone directly into or visit a disaster area. Reports will be broadcast, so let the rescue work proceed unhampered by spectators and curiosity seekers.

Do not enter a building damaged by a tornado until you are sure it is safe and will not collapse.

DO NOT SIGN contracts for repair work, removal of rubble or new insurance without consulting authorities. It was stressed.

Do cooperate in the general cleanup of debris. You are responsible for cleaning debris from your own property and, while doing this work, always wear shoes and gloves, as glass slivers abound in wake of a tornado.

Notify relatives of your safety as promptly as possible to avoid local authorities wasting valuable time trying to locate you. Limit telephone calls to one minute each and do not tie up lines if needed for emergency calls.

Additional information on tornado preparedness is available free of charge by visiting the Granite City ESDA office at police headquarters, 2330 Madison Ave., or by calling 877-3157 during weekday office hours.

Project Help seeks rummage items

Project Help, local food program for unemployed workers, will conduct a large rummage sale this Friday at St. Peter United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

The public is requested to contribute items for the sale. The items should be brought to St. Peter Church on Thursday afternoon. Donations should already be priced. Pick-ups for large items may be arranged by calling 876-3098.

The sale will begin at 9 a.m. The public is urged to attend.

Project Help has begun in March 1983 by a coalition of churches, labor unions and private and public social agencies to help alleviate the plight of the laid off worker. The program has since provided three-day's groceries each month to hundreds of individuals.

Project Help is funded entirely through contributions received by the public. The funding is received through various projects, including plant gate collections, bake sales and benefit dances.

Royal Rangers plan chill day Saturday

The Royal Rangers Outpost 73 will conduct its annual chill day fund-raising project at 7 p.m. on Saturday at Tri-City Park Tabernacle Fellowship Hall, 3400 Maryville Road.

This is the sole fund-raising project of the group. Boys participating in the ticket sales will be able to compete for prizes, including an archery set, airplane rides and other awards.

The all-you-can-eat dinner will cost $2.25. Chili dogs and hot dogs will be included for an extra 50-cent charge. Carryouts will be available, according to Jerry Meyenburg, senior commander.

Ski-masked robber wields large knife

"I want your damn money," a ski-masked robber answered Earl Sykes, owner of E & L Confectionary, 2503 Washington Ave., who had asked what the man wanted when he walked into the store at 1:50 p.m. Friday.

The store owner said the robber held a knife with a 10-inch-long blade and white tape wrapped around the handle.

He was described about 5 feet, 11 inches tall, weighed about 150 pounds and was wearing a dark jacket, faded denim jeans and a red stocking cap-ski mask covering his face and head.

The robber forced Sykes to put money from the cash register into a paper sack.

At that point, Mrs. Lydia Sykes came from a rear room in the confectionary and was ordered by the man to stand still and not cause any problems.

The man also warned Sykes, "Hey, you'd better not call the police," but was told by the store owner, "You're too late they are on the way."

The man then ran from the store holding the paper sack, which contained an estimated $250, and headed around the southeast corner of the building, reports said.

Limit quantity of steel imports

The figures on rising steel imports tell the story: January 1983, December 1983 and January 1984 steel shipments to the U.S., tallied in thousands of net tons, were 267, 492 and then 530 from Japan, 382, 478 and 447 from Europe, 121, 184 and 209 from Canada and 228, 573 and 569 from other countries.

Penetration of the U.S. market for all of 1983 and for January 1984 increased from 5.1 to 6.6 percent from Japan, 4.9 to 5.6 percent from Europe, 3.0 to 3.7 percent from Canada and 7.6 to 10.1 percent from all others.

The 17,070,000 tons of steel imported in 1983 represented 20.5 percent of our steel market, compared to 15.2 percent in 1979. The 2,082,000 tons imported in January 1984 constituted a 26 percent slice of total American steel use.

As U.S. Steel Chairman David M. Roderick, chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said Thursday in a letter to President Ronald Reagan:

"What is just as significant as the 25 million ton annual rate of imports (in January) is the increase in market penetration from all sources. And of this, the most dramatic is the increase from 'all other'—the developing countries.

"These imports, almost entirely from heavily subsidized, government-owned steel plants, not only have doubled in tonnage in four years but their market share has increased from 3.4 percent in 1980 to 10.1 percent in January.

"In the last two years, the steel industry has lost more than $6 billion. We still have more than 100,000 employees on layoff. Immense steel facilities have been shut down and our industry today is barely coming out of its worst depression since the 1930s.

"Competition in the U.S. steel industry is intense, as it should be, but most of this imported steel is unfairly traded under our laws. The American steel industry is, as we have been saying to you and members of your Cabinet for many months now, liquidating itself at an escalating rate.

"We are at the point point. Enforcement of trade laws, such as it has been, is simply not doing the job. Equally, industry self-help efforts have been stymied by the recent position of the Administration concerning industry rationalization (an apparent reference to merger proposals).

"A change in government policy is required. We urge temporary quantitative steel import limitations.

State shirking school obligation

Is education this state's top priority? Those who wrote the 1970 Illinois Constitution did not quite make that a flat assertion, but they did try to convey the point that schools deserved generous consideration.

With its one-year income tax hike expiring June 30, and a recession still existing, it is hard to see how Illinois is going to be generous in 1984-85.

Alarmed by the outlook, the State Board of Education has just adopted a resolution calling on the governor and legislature to "demonstrate that education is truly the state's priority by supporting the appropriation levels in the State Board's proposed budget."

The $3,056 billion plan (including federal funds), in the words of State Rep. Donald Gill, "would reverse the eight-year trend of decline in the state's proportional share of education support. That state share has dropped from 48.4 to 38.3 percent, and the board's budget would still only raise the share to about 41 percent. It is time Illinois stopped shirking its responsibilities to our schools and students."

The resolution says that the state government's proportional share in the last eight years has dropped by more than one-fifth, "thereby transferring billions of dollars in costs to local property taxes."

"The percentage of state expenditures allocated to elementary and secondary education has declined each year since 1977-78, indicating that it is a declining priority of the state."

"Educational opportunities in Illinois have been shrinking during the last several years due to cutbacks in funding."

"Providing additional funding for education was cited as the major reason for increasing taxes in 1983; yet, elementary and secondary education received only 14.5 percent of the increase."

"Whereas the state sets priorities through its appropriations process, designating the largest increases to those areas most in need, be it resolved that the State Board of Education calls on the governor and General Assembly" to show their backing for schools now, and in a meaningful way—money."

Commends students on excellent play

To the Editor:
Recently, as a class project the Mitchell School sixth grade students presented a play entitled "The Boy Abe," under the supervision of teacher Theodore Brown. These fine students acted out the early life history of Abraham Lincoln.

COMMENDS CHOUTEAU HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

To the Editor:
I think a vote of thanks should go to our Chouteau Township Highway Department for the excellent job they did in clearing our roads during the past snowstorm.

They worked continuously 37 hours without sleep so that residents could get to work, etc.
Thanks, fellows, for an excellent job. We salute you! Keep up the good work.

GRATEFUL RESIDENT

This informative hour-long documentary-type play was aired on cable television beginning Feb. 22 through Feb. 24 on Southwestern Cable Channel 11.

I, for one, am very grateful to the persons responsible for obtaining the cable T.V. crew. It was quite evident that only after many hours of well organized rehearsals could it be possible to present such a polished performance.

Bravo Mr. Brown and students! I am sure that each and every parent of the students who participated is very proud and feels that his child has experienced a great accomplishment.

Source of federal funds?

To the Editor:
Walter "Dick" Sparks has expanded my political awareness.

In his recent letter to the editor, Sparks noted that Chouteau Township's beautiful hall "...was not paid for with, nor heated with, local tax dollars." In the letter's next sentence, he noted that the building was paid for and is maintained by federal funds, thanks to good management and efforts of township officials.

I thought you had to be a member of the U.S. House of Representatives or U.S. Senate to forget where federal dollars are generated.

Mr. Sparks, does this attitude begin at the township level or, heaven forbid, even lower on the political totem pole?

Dividing property after divorce

When a court grants a dissolution of marriage, one decision which must be made is how to divide the property of the husband and wife. If the parties to the divorce can agree between themselves how to divide the property, the judge will normally not get involved in the decision as long as the court feels the division is fair and equitable. If the husband and wife cannot agree, the court will decide.

It should be noted that all property matters are decided at a second hearing after the first hearing on the grounds for the divorce itself. The reason the legislature decided there should be two hearings is because they did not want the misconduct of either party, which may be brought to light at the first hearing, to influence the judge when deciding property matters.

The law requires the trial court to classify all property as marital property or non-marital property. An example of marital property is an automobile purchased by a husband and wife subsequent to the marriage where the title is put in both names jointly. An example of non-marital property is money inherited by the husband or wife prior to the marriage which is kept separate and apart from the other spouse after marriage. Once classified, the non-marital property of each spouse is awarded to that spouse and the marital property is to be fairly divided between them.

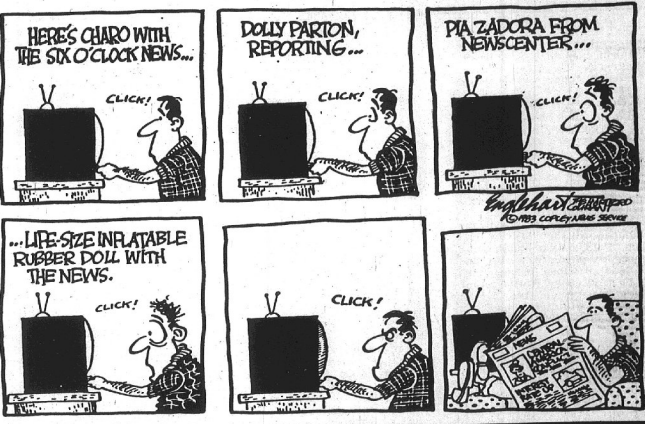

There is a special problem which may arise due to "co-mingling of assets." Let's take the example of a husband who brings $10,000 into the marriage. At the time of the marriage, this property is kept in a "separate bank account and, therefore, is non-marital property belonging solely to the husband. However, as an expression of his love, let's assume that after the ceremony he transfers this money to a joint bank account with his new bride. This is known as co-mingling or mixing together of assets and, in this case, it changes the classification of the property from non-marital to marital. If there is a subsequent divorce, this $10,000 would be equitably divided between the spouses, rather than awarded exclusively to the husband.

Law and you

By Rick Reed
Attorney at Law

In a recent case decided in Illinois, a husband owned a home in his name alone at the time of the marriage. After the ceremony, he put the deed in both names because his wife continually badgered him to do this and because she promised to name him as beneficiary in her will. At the time of the divorce, she asked the court to classify the property as marital property and he claimed it was non-marital. The court noted that when property is transferred to joint ownership after the marriage, as in this case, this will normally classify the property as marital property belonging to both spouses. However, the court here decided that this property was non-marital belonging to the husband because of the circumstances surrounding the transfer and because he contributed most of the money for the down payment and mortgage payments.

It's been a week since the St. Louis Globe-Democrat newspaper has become truly its own newspaper, separate of the Pulitzer Publishing Company and the St. Louis Post Dispatch. Quad-Cityans shopping at Crossroads Plaza during the weekend were asked their impressions of the new Globe in its infancy. Their reactions follow:

Ted Mushill, Granite City

"I don't like the Globe like I did before, there's something different about it. I can't put my finger on it. It just doesn't seem the same. Also, the business section doesn't seem to be the same. It's like something's missing."

Kathy Fuller, Granite City

"No, I can't say they look too much different to me. We get them both at home. It seems like the Globe has more of the news I need for school, things for classes."

Tammy Jones, Granite City

"I really can't see any change in each's format. It seems as though the Globe has more sports, though. I can't think of anything that I like about the Post. I do think that each being separate now will improve news, make it more competitive."

Jerry Voorhees, Granite City

"I really don't read newspapers that often. It seems like I don't have much time. I will say that I think newspapers have a tendency to make news rather than just report it. However, whenever I do pick up a paper most of the time it is the Globe."

Angry at criticism of police for shooting

To the Editor:

When I began reading the Feb. 20 issue of the Press-Record, I became very angry at the people complaining about the Granite City Police and the way they had to apprehend a subject. I say to these people, before you pass judgment on police officers and the use of force, first, you should walk a mile in their shoes.

When a police officer is shot to making a traffic stop, all people say is, "Well it was his job." When the police officer shoots someone who is armed and charging at a crowd of people, it is called "police brutality."

On the other hand, if that armed individual should reach and harm anyone, then the police are accused of not doing their jobs correctly.

I walked for six years in a police officer's shoes and all I can say to these people is, don't say a word unless you know what you are talking about. And these people don't.

Urges letters supporting social programs

To the Editor:

If we get further into 1984, we are having to face the growing realization that mounting deficits will not disappear without concerted action by the president and Congress. We now face the prospect of the largest deficit in peacetime history. Today, the deficit is estimated to be over $200 billion, despite three years in which nearly every domestic program in the federal budget has been cut.

While elderly and low-income Americans have endured cuts in Social Security, Medicare, Food Stamps, assisted housing and other social services, upper middle-income and wealthy Americans received a major tax break.

Now, it is being suggested that, to reduce the deficit, we must cut domestic spending again and raise taxes in equal proportions. Although the notion may have the superficial appearance of equity, it ignores the impact of three years of regressive fiscal policy, which also prevails today. Moreover, it ignores the contribution of a vast military build-up to our current deficit.

Tax reform experts have indicated that the 1981 tax plan contains a number of inequitable provisions that need to be remedied. The across-the-board tax cuts were targeted to benefit the affluent and large corporations. To restore equity and fairness, and to increase revenues in order to reduce the deficit, change in the tax system are needed! Reducing the oil depletion allowance, increasing the minimum tax on corporations, and restructuring the basic system of depreciation and investment tax credits are some of the obvious areas to consider!

Last year, when taxes brought $385 billion into the federal treasury, more than $215 billion went to pay for a massive military build-up. That same year, the entire budget for social programs, except Social Security (which gets no general revenue funds), amounted to only $67 billion. The entire Food Stamp program cost $11 billion. Aid to Families with Dependent Children spent $7.7 billion, nutrition programs for the elderly only $250 million. This means that if Congress voted to eliminate every federal program that aids the poor, the old, children and the handicapped, the U.S. would still be facing a deficit of over $140 billion.

Martin Feldstein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, said, "The increase in projected federal deficits can be attributed to three factors: military spending, tax cuts and increased interest payments on the national debt." There is no question that we need to deal with the nation's mounting deficit quickly, in order to ensure America's future economic strength. But to cut social programs still further would cause immeasurable suffering in exchange for negligible budgetary gain.

Three years ago we were told that cutting the "fat" from social programs would help us balance the budget. Today, after considerable cutting, we face the largest deficit in history. Obviously, we will have to find a better way!

Pick up your pen and write your legislators. Express your opinion. Members of Congress want to know how their constituents feel about public policy issues pending before the legislative branch of the government. The more you write careful and concerned letters to your senators and representatives, the more influence you will have with them.

Keep your letters brief and limit your subject to a single issue. State the topic clearly in the first paragraph so it can be assigned to the appropriate legislative assistant for handling. When writing, refer to the title and number of the bill, if possible. Explain why you are advocating a specific position and ask him or her to support the position you espouse. Make your communication your own and not a "form letter." Show some appreciation for past effort and request a reply by asking, "Can I count on your support for this vital matter?" Never beg or threaten—always appeal to the lawmakers on the merits of the issue.

If time is short and you need to communicate with a member of Congress, for a small fee you can send a 20-word "Personal Opinion Message" through Western Union, which will be delivered the same day. Telegrams are frequently given preferential treatment in legislative offices. To send telegraphic messages, look up "Western Union" in your local telephone directory.

Mini-mall opens in downtown Granite City

Jack Martin, owner of the Old Towne Mall, 309 East Main, Belleville, hopes to expand the success of his "mini-mall" to Granite City.

Martin is in the process of converting the former Casual Wear Store, 1321 Nineteenth St., into a smaller version of his Belleville mall.

So far, the store is being occupied by Fashions for Milady, H & M Jean Shop and Tops-n-Things. Martin said he is hoping to get one more store to occupy space in the mall. He said a cosmetic store and a gift shop have expressed interest in locating in the mall.

"The Belleville mall is really doing a good business and the way the shops are set up is unique," said Martin. "The interiors of the malls are really beautiful."

Martin said his Belleville mall features ladies' clothing, a gift shop, a shoe shop, a cosmetic shop, a candy emporium and a wicker shop. The Granite City mall shopowners also feel that the mini-mall idea should be good for business. "I think that after the inside of the mall gets finished, it will be really nice," said Eva Meyer, co-owner of H & M Jean Shop.

Mrs. Meyer and her brother, Jim Hiral, feature men's, women's and children's clothing in their store. They also sell leather items, belt buckles, jewelry, boats and gift items.

They formerly located their shop next to Earl's Sporting Goods, downtown.

Fashions for Milady, which used to be located at 1331 Nineteenth St., has discontinued its sportswear line of clothing, but it has expanded its bridal and formal prom wear line.

Diane Rogers and Dee Koesterer, co-owners of the store, also say they have expanded their services so that they can help brides-to-be to coordinate their entire wedding.

Tops-n-Things is owned by Martin and features a line of women's wear.

Martin said he is not sure whether he will continue featuring women's clothing or not in the future.

"We'll have to see how things go, but hopefully this mini-mall will also be a success," he said.

The net proceeds of the bonds will be applied to new construction.

The company is engaged in the generation, transmission, distribution and sale of electrical energy and the distribution and sale of natural gas in the state of Illinois.

A prospectus for the offering may be obtained from the underwriters or by contacting A.E. Gray, vice president and secretary, Illinois Power Company, 500 S. 27th St., Decatur, Ill. 62525.

More effective steel import curbs sought

The domestic steel industry has called President Reagan's attention to surging steel imports in January — to near-record levels — and has asked the president's support for quantitative import restrictions.

A letter was sent last week to the president from David M. Roderick, chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute and chairman of U.S. Steel Corp. Acquisition of National Steel by U.S. Steel is awaiting shareholder and federal approval.

A copy of the letter to the president is being sent to all members of Congress and to administration officials.

Imports of steel mill products jumped sharply in January above the two-million ton level, and close to the record-high for any month, in both tonnage and in percentage of market penetration.

Record-high imports from developing countries were the principal factor in the increase.

United States imports of steel mill products in January were 2,082,000 net tons, compared with 1,730,000 tons in December 1983 and 1,098,000 in January 1983. The record was in August 1981, at 2,226,000 tons. With the exception of that month, imports had not been over the monthly level of two million tons since 1978.

"The fact that the monthly level of steel imports could almost double within one year shows that the United States is defenseless against the onslaught of dumped and subsidized steel from abroad," said Roderick, chairman of AISI and U.S. Steel.

"Within that one year, imports from countries other than Japan, the EEC (European Economic Community) and Canada have become the dominant factor in the U.S. market."

"Imports in January took a near-record 26 percent of the American market. This means that American mills and workers were prevented from sharing in the benefits of the nation's economic recovery."

"Employment in the steel industry is still 40 percent below five years ago, and mill shipments are not far above recession levels."

"The government-owned or government-controlled steel industries of developing countries, enjoying capital and operating subsidies, are undercutting the American market and creating chaos," Roderick continued.

"The many anti-dumping and countervailing-duty cases which we have brought against these unfair trade imports have obviously done nothing to stop or even reduce the flow of unfair imports."

"These figures clearly demonstrate again — as they have over the last several years — that the only defense for the American steel industry against predatory selling by foreign countries in our market is an absolute import quota."

"We continue to urge Congress to pass the Fair Trade in Steel Act, which would limit imports for five years to 15 percent of our market."

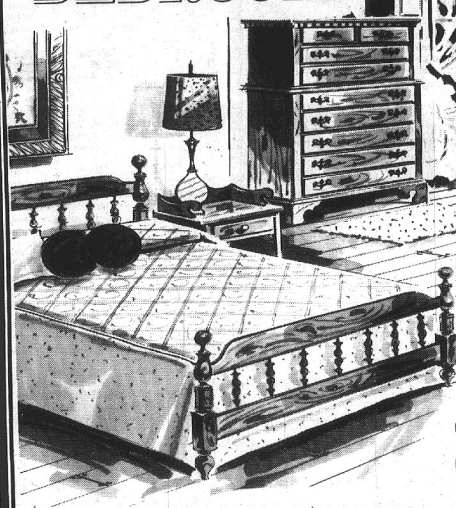

Imports in January represented 26 percent of the apparent supply in the U.S. market, based on estimated domestic mill shipments of 6 million tons.

This compared with an average of just over 22 percent in the previous six months.

Imports in January 1983 had represented 19.7 percent of that month's apparent supply figure. The high for a full year was 21.8 percent in 1982, and the figure for all of 1983 was 20.5 percent. The highest market penetration for any single month was 26.6 percent in January 1982.

Kerry Tyler

Kerry D. Tyler, 3-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry (Molly Barr) Tyler, 527 Jefferson Ave., Venice, was an apparent victim of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) or crib death, early Sunday morning.

Despite efforts to revive the infant, he was pronounced dead in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 9:35 a.m. Sunday, March 4, 1984, by Madison County Deputy Coroner Dick Mizell. An inquiry is pending.

Venice police were first called to the dwelling at 9:35 a.m. Sunday and found the father holding the baby, who was not breathing. Mr. Tyler had gone into the bedroom to check on the infant when Kerry died not awaken at his usual time, between 7 a.m. and 8 a.m., but he was unable to arouse his son, he said.

A Venice Fire Department emergency truck also was dispatched to the residence and firemen were unable to find signs of life in the child, reports said.

Venice Patrolman Joe Meehan transported the infant and father to St. Elizabeth Medical Center in a squad car, due to the time required to summon an ambulance at that point, police reports noted.

SEMC medical personnel attempted to revive the child, but were unsuccessful in their efforts. Authorities later estimated that the infant may have died between two and three hours earlier.

Kerry was born Nov. 17, 1983, in Granite City. He was of the Protestant faith.

Beside his parents, the infant is survived by a brother, Terry Tyler, about 3 years old; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence (Frances) Barr of Venice, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett (Loretta) Hulson of Washington Park, Ill.

Ninth Consecutive Regional Title Trojans defeat Pioneers; win Dupo Regional

Meet Vandalia in Sectional Opener

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

DUPO — After dodging a bullet Thursday called the Lovejoy Wildcats, the Madison High School basketball team did Friday night what nearly everyone expected them to — win their ninth Class A basketball regional in as many years.

After a somewhat ugly 59-51 victory over Lovejoy Thursday, the top-seeded Trojans dizzied the third-seeded Pioneers in the Dupo Regional finale, winning 54-43. Coincidentally, the Trojans' 11-point victory over the Pioneers in the finals was the Pioneers' same margin of victory over Venice in the semifinals (see related story).

THE VICTORY earned the Trojans a berth in Tuesday's Vandalia Sectional Tournament. Things will be tough for the Trojans going into the sectional as they meet home favorite Vandalia at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Other regional winners going to Vandalia include Litchfield and Wesclin. Each winners in their respective regionals, Litchfield and Wesclin will meet on Wednesday. The Vandalia Sectional championship is slated for Friday.

Madison, now 25-2 and riding a 23-game winning streak, is getting a reputation which is not flattering, but is certainly something Trojan coach Larry Graham can live with.

"It seems like we play just well enough to win," Graham said after Friday's championship game. "That's the way it looks. We're not going to overpower anyone. It's like they know what they have to do to win and they do it."

GRAHAM SAID his team having that reputation doesn't bother him as long as they keep winning.

Good enough to win. That's the word that's out. The Trojans may lack the killer instinct, but despite that shortcoming, many are pitting the Trojans in another state championship game.

Rated the second Class A team in Illinois again by the Associated Press, the Trojans were on Cloud Nine Friday — one for each consecutive regional championship. The last team to win the regional, which wasn't clad in green and white was Venice. In 1975 the Red Devils won the regional and breezed to the state championship.

IT WAS a different Larry Graham who talked to the media Friday compared to Thursday. He was a winner both nights, but Friday he was pleased. The same couldn't be said Thursday.

"We played a lot better tonight than we did last night," Graham began. "We played in spurts and although we had our chances to put them away, we didn't do it."

"Part of that may be attributed to them," Graham said of Assumption. "They have a lot of talent. They play a slow, deliberate, patient ball game. The guys they wanted to shoot, shot it."

Assumption Coach Greg King assessed his team's efforts in few words.

"We came up a little short," King said. "They're a good basketball team, there's no question about it."

Sectional tickets on sale

MADISON — Tickets for the Madison High School's basketball team's first-round game in the Vandalia Sectional Tuesday, March 6, will go on sale this afternoon at Madison High from the principal's office.

Madison High School principal

AFTER Thursday's victory over Venice in the semifinals, King said the only way to beat Madison was to convince his athletes that they could beat what he termed the "Madison mystique."

"We talked about what they (Madison) were going to do offensively and defensively, and ways to stop it. We had to go out there and be Assumption, be ourselves, play our kind of basketball. I don't think the mystique beat us tonight."

King went on to cite two reasons for Assumption's loss.

"First, it was the turnovers. We must've had 25 of them tonight. Secondly, it was the officiating. This is the first time I've ever said this to a newspaper reporter, the officiating was terrible."

"I do, however, want to give a lot of credit to Larry Graham and his team. They've played well and I wish them well and I hope they win it all because they represent our area. It's not all sour grapes," King concluded.

THE TROJANS were the first to tally the scoreboard. James Bennett took Reggie Banks' tip passed off to Michael Young who scored just 14 seconds into the game.

Assumption's Antoine Liddell evened the score at two each just moments later.

Banks' turn around jumper put Madison on top again with 6:40 remaining in the first quarter, but Assumption was determined to keep close.

Two and a half minutes into the game, Assumption's Clifton Yancy drove inside and scored to tie the game at four. While driving, though, Banks fouled Yancy and the 5-foot 11-inch senior was able to convert a three-point play.

Leading 5-4, Assumption's Liddell padded the Pioneers' lead by three with a looping jumper from the baseline.

THEN CAME the Madison air attack. Not to be outdone by Yancy, Dan Kostencki said Friday that tickets may be purchased on Monday beginning at 2:30 p.m. and will be available on Tuesday from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

TICKETS are $3 each and Kostencki says his office holds approximately 1,000 tickets to be sold.

Madison's Young connected from the left corner. Then, following a missed attempt by the Pioneers, Victor Valentine sank a 20-foot jumper to put the Trojans back on top 8-7.

Using its famed press to pressure turnovers, Madison was able to convert a turnover into another bucket. Again, it was Young and from his favorite place — the left corner.

Madison's press was from the air began to frustrate Assumption. The Pioneers began to even the simplest things wrong, like dribble.

Assumption's John Dozier had to turn the ball over to Madison after double dribbling with 3:30 remaining in the first quarter.

ASSUMPTION managed to narrow Madison's lead to one, 10-9, with 1:25 remaining in the quarter as Reggie Evans scored from the right side of the key. But two baskets by Young, one with one minute remaining and the other with one second remaining, re-established a comfortable five-point, 14-9, Madison lead by the end of the quarter.

In the second quarter the Trojans seemed like the Trojans of old. Young, who scored the Trojans with 20 points, and Valentine combined to turn a Madison five-point lead into a 10-point lead in short order.

Just two minutes into the second quarter Young sank another bucket from the quarter to give the Trojans a 21-11 lead. The basket was immediately followed by an Assumption timeout.

Assumption's attempt to slow the rallying Trojans was slow to take effect, but it eventually did. Delloyd Williams nailed a swisher from the left corner to increase Madison's lead to 12, 23-11, but just as rapidly as the Trojans got hot they got cold.

IT TOOK Assumption just three short minutes to annul what Madison had done only moments before. The Pioneers scored nine unanswered points to close the point spread to three, 23-20.

Following a Madison timeout, Young went back to work from the left corner. The result was two points and a momentary five-point lead.

Final seconds heroics by Liddell moved Assumption back to within three, 25-22, when the 6-foot 3-inch senior scored from inside.

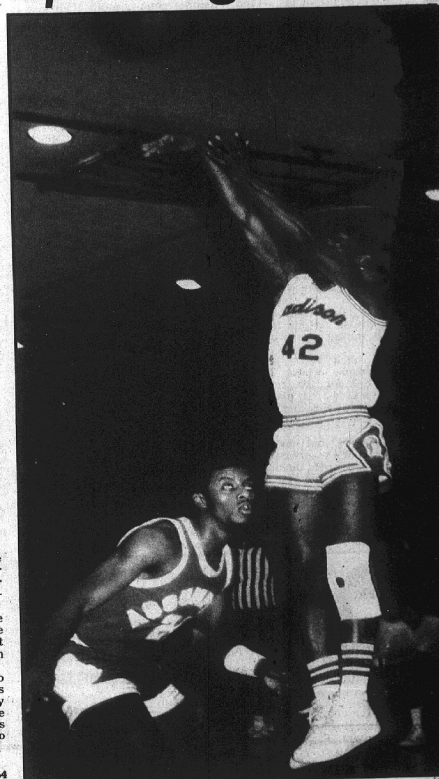

For the most part, Madison secured the game in the third quarter. Outsourcing Assumption 12-8, the Trojans played more relaxed and confident.

THE TROJANS were no more courteous in the fourth quarter either, outsourcing the Pioneers for the third time in three quarters, 17-13.

Leading 37-32 going into the quarter, the Trojans poured on the heavy stuff, scoring eight unanswered points midway through the quarter.

Leading 47-36 with just over two minutes remaining, Assumption's John Moody broke the Pioneers' spell, sinking two free throws but the game was out of reach. The Trojans knew it. Their fans knew it. And so did Assumption.

SCORING
MAD 14 11 12 17-54
ASM 9 8 13-43
MADISON (54): M. Young 8-4-20, Williams 4-6-13, Valentine 2-2-6, Banks 3-0-6, Bennett 3-0-6, Crowder 0-1-1, R. Young 0-3-3. FG 20, FT 14-19.
ASSUMPTION (43): Liddell 9-3-4, Yancy 4-1-1-9, Moody 1-2-2-4, Dozier 1-1-3, Evans 3-0-6. FG 17, FT 7-8, PF 18.

42nd AIRBORNE. By land or by air, the Madison Trojan offense was equally effective Friday night against East St. Louis Assumption in the championship game of the Dupo Class A Basketball Regional. Above, James Bennett displays the air attack which proved so fatal to the Pioneers. The Trojans went on to win their ninth regional in as many years.

In Class A Action Pioneers upset Red Devils in regional

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

DUPO — From the moment East St. Louis Assumption took the floor Thursday night in semifinal action of the Dupo Class A Basketball Regional, Pioneer Coach Greg King knew he was catching the Venice Red Devils at a weak moment.

The Red Devils breezed past Valmeyer Tuesday, 78-38, but the victory was a costly one. Venice's second leading scorer, 5-foot 10-inch senior forward Phillip White, sprained his left ankle in the first quarter.

In that game, White played little, scoring just two points, far below his 20 points per game average this season. While the sidelining of White had little impact in the outcome of Tuesday night's game, the same can't be said about Thursday night's game with Assumption.

WITHOUT White and his usual offensive contribution, the Red Devils came up short, losing to the Pioneers by 11, 64-75. The loss ended the Devils' season and sent the Pioneers soaring into the regional championship against perennial powerhouse Madison (see related story).

"I talked with Rick (Venice assistant coach Everage) prior to the game. We knew White was hurting," Assumption's King said after the game. "I simply asked Rick if White was going to play and he told me he didn't think he would. He's hurting pretty bad," he said.

Knowing the unlikelihood of White playing, King concentrated his defense on Venice's other gun, 5-foot 8-inch senior guard Eddie Salmond.

THE PIONEERS knew with White out of the lineup, their chances of stopping Venice were greatly improved. All they had to do was stop Salmond.

But that was easier said than done.

The Pioneers employed a tight zone defense against the Devils — a defense which sealed off the inside and forced Venice's offense outside, far outside.

Salmond, true to the challenge, went to work. When they forced him outside, he scored with 20-foot looping jumpers. When they tried to take him away, he dribbled inside. It was a terrific personal effort. But even with his game high 26 points, the Pioneers prevailed.

The Red Devils' efforts even brought praise from King, the opposition.

"I JUST want to say something on Venice's behalf. They played a brilliant game. They should be commended for the way they kept battling, battling back. We feel very fortunate to have beaten them," King said.

King was gracious, more than he had to be. His compassion for the Red Devils in their loss seemed genuine, but even Venice had White, King thought the outcome would have been the same.

"Sure, the game may have been closer with White, but I don't think it would have made a difference in the final outcome," King said. "I'm sure if you ask Venice, though, I'll bet they'll say White's absence made a difference."

KING WAS right. Venice's first-year coach Clinton Harris made no bones about it. The game would have had a different outcome if the Red Devils were at full strength.

"They were doing everything to stop Eddie," Harris began. "At first they set up a 1-3-1 defense to try and force us outside. Then they were double teaming Eddie."

"Even with all that we still managed to give them a good game. We lost by 17. Add 20 points to our score, that's what Phillip's been averaging a game. I definitely think the outcome would have been different if we had been healthy."

In Collinsville Regional Cagers take on Tigers in first round

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

COLLINSVILLE — Granite City High School basketball coach Don Deterding is hoping he can take two things with him into the Collinsville Regional Tuesday night against Edwardsville.

First, Deterding hopes his team can carry the winning spirit it enjoyed Friday night over Bethalto (see related story). And, secondly, Deterding is hoping the Warriors will remain as healthy as they are now.

The Warriors, now 10-15 and seeded second in the regional tournament behind top seeded Collinsville, will meet the third-seeded Tigers in the second game Tuesday night which is slated to begin about 8 p.m.

THE FIRST seeded Kahoks will have things somewhat easier in the first round than the Warriors. Collinsville, now 11-13, will meet fourth seeded Roxana, 4-20 — prior to the Warrior-Tiger matchup — at 6:30 p.m.

The Shells just picked up their final win of the season during the weekend over Mississippi Valley Conference rival Highland.

Although the Warriors are seeded above the Tigers, Deterding thinks the Tigers may be the team to beat, saying they're hot and on a roll.

"Right now, Edwardsville is on a roll," Deterding began. "We split with them during the regular season, but they're really playing well lately."

"It should be a good game. A lot of people think they'll have the upper hand. But if we can play our kind of ball game I think we can take them," Deterding said. "Although, the same can be said about them. Whoever plays their game will prevail."

DESPITE Edwardsville's streak of good luck recently, Deterding's reason for optimism stems from something the Warriors haven't had for a while — a healthy starting five. Plagued by the flu and injuries, the Warriors enter the regional tournament in perhaps the best of shape this season. Only 6-foot 5-inch junior center Scott Cant is ailing. Cant, who sprained an ankle two weeks ago, is still functioning at "less than 100 percent" because of the injury, Deterding said.

Despite Cant's injury, Deterding believes the Warriors are healthy enough to win, as was evidenced Friday against Bethalto.

"At least we're healthy going into the game. We're adequate," Deterding said. Perhaps the Warriors' coach's reason for optimism was the Warriors' showing against Bethalto.

"OUR SHOOTING has been improving. Friday we shot 68 percent (field goal percentage) and everyone shot 50 percent or better. That's considerably better than the 27 percent we shot against Edwardsville the last time we played them."

"We're going in there healthy, with no excuses. If we lose, we'll have no alibis," Deterding said.

The Tigers, ironically, at third

In Mid-States Playoffs Warriors find winning difficult when the 'Icemen cometh'

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — A defensive mistake late in the second period helped the C.B.C. Icemen score what proved to be the winning goal to defeat the Granite City Warriors 5-3 in the third place game of the Mid-States High School Ice Hockey League Tournament held Thursday at the Arena.

"That goal with six seconds left in the period sure hurt us," lamented Granite City coach Garry Henson. "We made the fatal mistake of chasing the puck behind the net."

C.B.C. skater Tim Ryan wheeled around behind the net, ahead of the ensuing Warrior defenders. As Ryan skated in front of the net, he saw the lower corner open and pushed a shot past Granite City goalie Jeff Pare.

"That hurt," said Henson. "Instead of going into the third period tied, we were down by one (4-3)."

"Our boys had several good chances to score. It's just that the puck didn't go in like we wanted it to."

DESPITE the loss, Henson had nothing but praise for his team's performance during the winning season.

"We'll be back next year," predicted Henson, whose team finished at 10-7 for the regular season play and 4-3 in playoffs. "Print that as big as you want. Put it in all capital letters. WE WILL BE BACK."

Henson's players had obviously caught their coach's enthusiasm. The Warriors appeared thrilled to play in the Arena for the first time on the same ice that is usually occupied by the Blues and other NHL teams. The adrenalin was working for both teams, making the game faster and more physical.

G.B.C. took a quick 1-0 lead, scoring on the first shot of the game. Six minutes later the Icemen added another goal, boosting their lead to 2-0.

But Granite City bounced right back. With 3:40 left in the period, Chris Carden slapped in a goal to make the score 2-1. Exactly two minutes later, Dave Yurkovich received some help from Lady Luck on a shot that bounced off the stick of the Icemen's goalie and trickled in on the right side of the net. The Warriors had impressively battled their way back from a 2-0 deficit to a 2-2 tie.

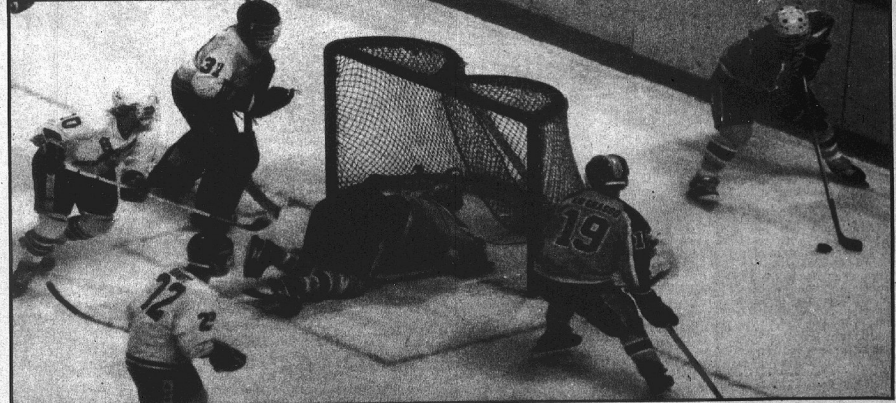

"If you can't get pumped playing here in the Arena, you might as well hang up the skates," said Henson. "It was one of our goals from the very beginning of the season — to make it to the Arena for the finals."

AFTER G.B.C. went ahead in the second period with a goal by Tim Ryan, Granite City's Todd Hinterser tied the game again at 4:51 during a power play. The goal was picture perfect, just as the Warriors' patience in working the puck around proved to be the key in making the goal.

But the last-second goal at the end of the period and another Icemen goal in the final period ended Granite City's hopes of winning the third-place trophy. Instead, the Warriors skated off with fourth-place honors.

Granite City competed in the championships at the Arena for the first time in the school's club hockey history after qualifying for the playoffs by finishing second in the North Division of the league. In playoffs, the Warriors defeated McCluer North in two straight games and Oakville in two of three games.

"I'M PROUD of our guys," said

HEAD FIRST. A C.B.C. skater loses his balance and heads straight in the goal during the Mid-States High School League Tournament held Thursday night at the St. Louis Arena. Looking on are Granite City's Jeff Pare (31), Todd Hinterser (10) and Mark Daniff (22). In addition to getting more players into the net, the C.B.C. Icemen also got the puck in the goal more often, outscoring the Warriors 5-3.

Against Bethalto Warriors end regular season with win

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

BETHALTO — The Granite City Warrior basketball team scored a solid 68-54 victory Friday over the Civic Memorial Eagles to close their regular season with a 10-15 record.

"It's nice to end on a winning note," said Granite City coach Don Deterding. "It wasn't an astounding season, but we did end in double figures."

The Warriors had an unusual problem against Civic Memorial. Accustomed to being behind on the scoreboard, the Warriors had trouble controlling the tempo of the game because they were ahead throughout the contest. Instead of working the ball around for high-percentage shots, Granite City seemed content with launching the outside shots.

"I PROBABLY should have taken more time in practice on what to do in that situation," said Deterding. "We're going to have to work on running out the clock."

Luckily for the Warriors, the fast-paced offense wasn't detrimental to their cause. Guards Joe and Jeff Gray connected on many of their jumpers on the wings. The two brothers impressively dominated the third quarter, making six of the team's seven baskets in the stanza.

"Since they were hitting, I let them shoot," said Deterding. "But in the fourth quarter, I decided they needed to slow the game down." Fouling from the Eagles also helped Deterding slow the game's pace, as his Warriors marched to the line 18 times during the final quarter. The team connected on 11 of the charity stripe.

GRANITE CITY took control of the game from the start, leading the Eagles by 14-11 at the end of the first quarter. The margin kept getting bigger, as the Warriors outscored Civic Memorial in the next three quarters.

Four Granite City players made it to double figures. Jeff Gray led the team with 16, followed by Kurt Hyla with 15, Art Williams with 13 and Joe Gray with 12. To round out the scoring, Gerald Booker and Scott Cant had six points each.

"It was definitely a team effort," said Deterding. "Williams played an excellent ball game. And Booker did a heck of a job, too."

"The only area I was disappointed in was our defense. I wasn't not satisfied with it at all."

THE FINAL quarter proved that fact. Down by nine, 49-40, at the start of the fourth quarter, Civic Memorial connected on three straight baskets to bring the game within five points.

But Granite City's offense made up for the defensive mistakes. Thirteen points to the Eagles' mere two put the Warriors back in command, 62-48.

Granite City will be playing Edwardsville in the opening round of the Collinsville regional Tuesday. The Warriors were massacred 74-49 by Edwardsville on Feb. 24, but Deterding pointed out that the Gray brothers and Kurt Hyla were recovering from the flu and Scott Cant was slowed down by a sprained ankle.

"It should be a better ballgame now that we're healthy," said Deterding. "Let's hope we can stay that way."

Benefit Dance Slated Tri-City to open as slated

By BELINDA CONLEY
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Eileen Waters, spokesperson for Tri-City Speedway, confirmed Saturday that the track will open on April 28 as planned. Tri-City is under new ownership and will begin the 1984 racing season with a few changes.

To help get the season off right, the Tri-City Motor Sports Club, an organization started just to promote the track, will hold its first Kick Off Dance Saturday, March 10 at the Bellline Center, Keebler and Bellline Roads in Collinsville.

The Dixie Express Band will play from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 p.m. A $7.50 per person ticket price includes beer and set ups.

A major change instituted by Tri-City Speedway's new promoters Bob Geaschel and Larry Quirin of B & L Productions is that there will be no NASCAR affiliation, which the two cite as the main cause of the track's financial difficulties last year.

Through B & L, Geaschel and Quirin have also lowered ticket prices from $7 to $4 for grandstand seats and from $10 to $5 for pit passes, and started a new drivers association, the Tri-City Motor Sports Club.

There will be a practice day on March 16 for drivers from any association. The season officially begins at Tri-City on Sat. April 28 and will run through the end of September. The schedule of events, Waters says, will be similar to last year's with sportsman, street stock and modifieds running on Saturday nights, and a possibility of regular Tuesday night motorcycle racing.

B & L Promotions will sponsor some special events including Busch Late Model races on June 27 and Aug. 1. A Modified show on July 3, a Mothers Day special on May 12 and a Fathers Day special on June 16.

A World of Outlaws show — not sponsored by B & L — will also be held.

Drivers with questions about rules the Motor Club should contact Geaschel at 344-7685 or Quirin at 234-0907.

Tickets for the Kick Off Dance will be available at the door or persons may obtain them earlier by calling Geaschel or Quirin.

Podraza finishes third

Sandy (Farks) Podraza, a manager of the Renaissance Health Club, 3901 Stearns in Granite City, finished third last weekend in a national body-building contest in northern Illinois.

Podraza, a 1975 graduate of Granite City High School, captured the third place trophy in the Continental USA National Body Building Contest held at Center East Auditorium in Skokie.

Podraza, the daughter of William and Christine Farks now of Glen Carbon, earned her third-place finish by swaying the judges in three different categories — presentation, symmetry and muscular definition.

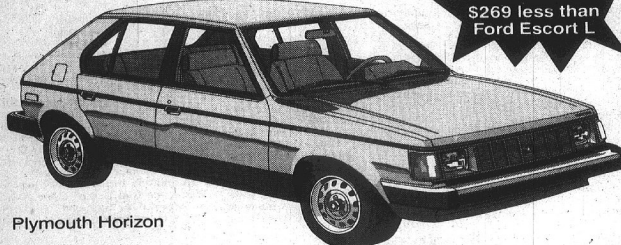

The competition involved a men's, women's teen and couples division.

Venice

McGhee was still recovering from the flu. And, says Harris, because of that he was not a full strength.

THE PIONEERS wasted little time in establishing a lead in Thursday's second game with the Devils.

Midway through the first period, Assumption held a comfortable 12-4 lead. Salmond and 6-foot 2-inch Darren Wise battled to keep Venice close. But by the end of the first quarter, Assumption via Antoine Liddell, held a 10-point, 21-11 lead.

In the second quarter it became apparent just how much Venice missed White's offensive ability. There were moments in the second quarter when it appeared Assumption was going to blow the game wide open. But just when it seemed imminent, Venice battled back, scoring two and three baskets to keep the game within reach.

Despite Venice's moments of brilliance in the midst of adversity, Assumption coasted to a 39-23 half-time lead.

KNOWING Assumption's ability to hold off an opponent in the fourth quarter, Venice had to make a run at the Pioneers in the third quarter and it did.

Sixteen points behind going into the second half, Venice outscored Assumption in the third stanza, 22-18. But the best was yet to come.

The momentum which the Red Devils mounted in the third quarter carried into the fourth quarter. Trailing by 12 going into the fourth quarter, 57-45, the Red Devils were determined to make a game of it.

With 6:15 remaining in the game, Salmond hit a 20-foot looping jumper. Venice moved to within 10, 59-49.

Assumption's John Dozier responded to re-establish the Pioneer's 12-point lead. Then Salmond did it again. Another 20-foot jumper, 51-41.

NOT TO BE outdone, Wise stole a pass intended for Assumption's Clifton Yancy and dashed the length of the court for the layup. Venice fans were ecstatic. They had reason to be. The Devils hadn't been closer to catching the Pioneers since the first period.

But that was as close as Venice got. Dozier came back to sink a jumper to re-establish Assumption's 10- and 12-point lead before eventually posting its 11-point victory.

seed are the only team entering the regional with a winning record. After its weekend victory over Wood River, Edwardsville is 12-11.

If the Warriors are to be victorious, Deterding said, 6-foot 2-inch junior forward Kurt Hylla will have to have a good game. Deterding explains: "Jeff (6-foot 1-inch junior forward Gray) will probably get his points and Cant will get a few re-are, we're going to need that little extra effort to win. That effort will have to come from Hylla," Deterding said.

ANOTHER integral part of the Warrior game will be the performance of Joe Gray, the younger brother of Jeff. Joe Gray, who's averaging just six points a game, leads the team and many others with assists, 108. The Warriors, Deterding said, will need his ability also if the Warriors are to oust the Tigers.

Edwardsville coach Bud Vallino is taking a pragmatic approach to the regional, saying every team in the regional has a chance to win.

"Basically, and the whole of it is, any team is capable of knocking off the other. Any team is capable of whipping the other."

Vallino said the key to stopping Granite City is stopping Jeff Gray. "The key to beating Granite City is to shut off Gray. That's what we're going to try to do," Vallino said.

ON THE OTHER side of the court, the Warriors will probably concentrate their defensive efforts on stopping Rod Strohmeyer, a 6-foot 2-inch senior guard and leading scorer.

In addition to Strohmeyer, the Tigers' Tim Brinkman, a 6-foot 5-inch senior forward, will pose a scoring threat.

The remainder of Edwardsville's starting five include P. J. Riley, a 6-foot 2-inch junior forward, Jody Rogers, a 6-foot 2-inch center whom Vallino downplayed the importance, and Tom Spiller, a 5-foot 8-inch guard.

The winner of the Warrior-Tiger matchup will meet the Roxana-Collinsville winner Friday at 7:30 p.m. for the regional championship.

Park softball fee deadline is approaching

The Granite City Park District reminds all returning men's and women's softball teams that they have until Friday, March 9, 5 p.m. to pay their entry fee.

Any returning team who does not pay their fee by March 9 will be placed at the bottom of the new team waiting list.

For those who did not attend the organizational meeting, the entry fee is $125 plus a $25 forfeit fee. The full $150 is due on or before 5 p.m., March 9.

Regional meetings will study the problems of small business

Even regional meetings of the Illinois Conference on Small Business will be held throughout the state starting Friday as part of a comprehensive effort to identify the problems small business owners face.

The Illinois Conference on Small Business was set up by the Governor's Small Business Advisory Commission (SBAC) and will culminate in a May 15 and 16 meeting in Springfield. The conference is co-sponsored by Lieutenant Governor George H. Ryan who is the conference chairman, the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

"During fact-finding meetings in Chicago and Springfield in December, people from trade and business associations, labor, academic institutions and small businesses helped us prepare the agenda for these regional meetings," said Ryan.

"The purpose of these 11 regional meetings now is to target the areas of greatest concern to the small business community and compile a list of recommended issues for discussion and action at the May meeting," said Ryan.

DCCA Director Michael T. Woelfer said the work of the SBAC is another important sign that the current state administration is committed to improving the lot of Illinois' more than 240,000 small businesses.

"This conference occurs at the same time DCCA is beefing up programs and services for small business," said Woelfer. "To name but two, we have innovative loan programs worked out in cooperation with the U.S. SBA and energy assistance for small firms. We're also putting the finishing touches on the 'Illinois Plan,' designed specifically by Governor Thompson to help small businesses get the financial, technical and managerial help they need."

"I look forward to the results of this conference," Woelfer said. "I'm sure the final recommendations will help us streamline small business programs and services already offered."

Income averaging cuts some taxes

Many taxpayers whose income increased substantially in 1983 can save taxes when filing their federal tax returns. They can do this by using the income averaging method to compute their tax. The Internal Revenue Service said this week.

Under income averaging, part of an unusually large amount of taxable income is taxed at a lower rate.

Taxpayers must have been U.S. citizens or residents for at least the last five tax years to qualify. They usually must have provided more than 50 percent of their own support during the four years prior to 1983 and have an averageable income of more than $3,000 to be eligible for income averaging, the IRS said.

The easiest way to determine averageable income is to complete Schedule G, "Income Averaging." Complete instructions on how to compute the tax appear in Publication 506, "Income Averaging." G and 506 are available free from the IRS and can be ordered by using the order form in the tax forms package.

Taxpayers who use the income averaging method must have copies of their tax returns for the four years prior to 1983, the IRS noted. Copies of prior tax returns can be ordered by completing Form 4506, "Request for Copy of Tax Form or Individual Income Tax Account Information," available by calling or writing the IRS.

Taxpayers will be charged $5 per return for copies of prior year tax returns. Payments must accompany the order. Allow at least 45 days for receipt, a spokesman said.

WOMAN INJURED AT NAMEOKI COTTAGE

Connie M. Stroder, 31, of 1508 Cottage Ave., sustained an injury in a traffic accident last week and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The mishap occurred when a vehicle operated by Mrs. Stroder was making a left turn from Cottage Avenue onto Nameoki Road and began sliding sideways on the icy-covered pavement.

David A. Mundy, 19, of 195 Sunny Shores, traveling south on Nameoki, attempted to stop his auto, but slid on snow into the Stroder car, reports said.

ARREST FAIRMONT CITY WOMAN AT DRUG STORE

Linda S. Feltz, 24, of Fairmont City, was arrested last week at Reese Drugs in Bellemore Village Shopping Center, 3216 Nameoki Road, on charges of unlawful possession of prescription forms and attempted acquisition of a controlled substance.

The same woman allegedly presented a Reese pharmacist with a prescription for a tranquilizer drug the previous day, which allegedly was not issued by a Belleville physician, as stated.

The woman failed to return to pick up the medication that day, but came back to the store the following day and was taken into custody.

Mrs. Feltz was released after posting a $100 cash bond.

Nelson Corporation in Peoria, said, "In order to explore ways to strengthen the economic base for small business in Illinois, we must involve local business people in this critical planning process. These 11 regional meetings will ensure the broadest possible participation and allow geographic differences and needs to be emphasized."

Besides identifying and discussing small business issues such as capital formation and retention, taxes, procurement and other concerns, 177 additional delegates to the May 15 and 16 conference will be selected.

All told, there will be 435 delegates.

The delegates have been picked by the SBAC, state lawmakers, Ryan and Thompson and members of the Illinois congressional delegation.

Ryan said that after the May meeting, proposed solutions to small business problems will be submitted to the governor for further review.

"By formalizing recommendations for strengthening the economic base for small business in Illinois, state leaders will have a clearer blueprint for planning economic recovery," said Ryan. "After all, well over half the jobs in this state are the direct result of small business establishments and it's in our best interest to stay abreast of small business concerns."

Woelfer encouraged participation by all Illinois small businesses. "We have a real chance here, thanks to the close cooperation between the private and public sectors, to make a significant difference in the lives of virtually every Illinois citizen. That can happen only with hard work by each and every one of us."

Regional meetings dates and locations are: March 5, Kankakee, Bradley Holiday Inn; March 6,

Harvey, Harvey Holiday Inn; March 8, Champaign, Jumer's Castle Lodge; March 9, Quad-Cities, Moline Holiday Inn; March 10, Chicago, Triton College; March 13, Mt. Vernon, Mt. ## Madison schools change age cut-off for kindergartners

Members of the Madison School Board approved a policy change Thursday night which set a new cut-off date for the starting age of kindergarten children.

In the past, children attending Madison kindergarten had to be 5 years old by Dec. 31 of that year. The new policy says children must be 5 by Dec. 1.

MADISON Superintendent of Schools John Palchiff said the change in policy came after a suggestion by a representative from the Illinois State Board of Education. "While the district was reviewing the policy manual, a woman from the state mentioned that the cutoff date for first graders throughout Illinois is Dec. 1," he said. "So if a kindergarten student who was born after Dec. 1 transferred from the Madison School District to another school district, there is a chance that he or she could be kept back a year. I think our policy for school age should be consistent with that of the state," he explained.

Palchiff said the state school board plans to move the cut-off date up further in the future. "They really would like it (the cut-off) to be Sept. 1," he said. "I think that they're going to try to move it up one month at a time though."

Palchiff said that the school district has never had a conflict with the old policy.

IN OTHER school news, the board accepted a letter from the First National Bank in Madison, which announced the bank's intent to donate the funds for signs for the "Sam Dymally Memorial Field."

The board decided last December to name the Madison High School Football Field after the late Mr. Dymally, former school board president.

Also at the meeting, the bid from Universal Products was approved for 22 gallons of weed killer.

Erosion of benefits worries retired federal workers here

National Federation of Retired Federal Employees Chapter 1067 met at Charlie's in Granite City, with 63 in attendance, and challenged proposed budget cuts aimed at retired government workers.

Chapter President Gerald Walters called the meeting to order and Second Vice President Thara Erney gave the invocation.

Following lunch, First Vice President Ruth Stoyanoff discussed legislative happenings in Washington which have a direct bearing on federal retirees and survivor annuities.

The long-awaited report of the president's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control, conducted by an appointed group of business executives whose activities and interim findings have often been discussed in previous chapter meetings, was released in January.

Timing of the report's release was stressed by her because of the nationwide press coverage just before Pres. Ronald Reagan submitted his fiscal year 1985 budget to Congress.

In their report, the businessmen came up with 2,478 cost-cutting recommendations which they said could, if implemented in their entirety, save $424 billion over three years.

Even leading Republican congressional leaders, such as Senator Robert Dole, find many of these cuts to be unrealistic," she said. "The budget once again has unfairly singled out the federal employees and retired community."

"The recommended changes adversely affect retirement cost-of-living allowances, funding and computation."

"Although NARFE members recognize the difference between the president and congressional action to implement the recommendations, pens should be taken in hand, and our delegation forcefully told our apprehension over continual erosion of long-promised retirement benefits to which we contributed a fair share during lengthy federal careers."

Mayne Vallow, who chairs the sunshine committee, informed the gathering about chapter members who are ill. Nine greeting cards were sent during the past month to members, and a card was signed to be sent to George Eubanks.

Georgina McMillan reviewed the new service office guide issued by NARFE headquarters.

She said NARFE has added to its staff two desk officers whose primary responsibility will be to aid members experiencing consistent and frustrating difficulties getting their annuity problems solved.

She stated that members can "accomplish a great deal for themselves by keeping the U.S. Office of Personnel Management aware of any changes of address."

"The envelope in which monthly annuity checks are received contains a printed notification form and, if needed, the chapter's service officer has an additional supply of the required form."

"If members desire a change in the amount of income tax to be deducted from their monthly annuity checks, they will need to request in writing the necessary forms from OPM."

The first vice president reported that Illinois' 29th annual NARFE state convention will be held in Oak Lawn, May 3, 4 and 5.

Chapter officers will meet in the next few weeks to discuss convention attendance, contributions to NARFE's political action committee, and future goals.

The program chairman Elmer Ebrecht, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Izetta Stayduhar, an income tax office supervisor.

Next meeting will be March 12.

Learning of a fight at 19th and State streets at 1:40 a.m. Sunday, police found Lawrence A. Watson, 29, of 2121 Grand Ave., being held by a man at that location.

The officers were advised that a disturbance, allegedly caused by Watson, had taken place at Goldie's Tavern, 1900 State St., and Watson was told to leave, but had thrown a bottle through a window in the bar which had struck another man in the head.

Watson allegedly ran north on State Street and was pursued and caught by Ron Gofth, who held Watson until police arrived.

Watson was charged with criminal damage to property and disorderly conduct.

News notes

Bellevue Area College teachers Friday ratified a two-year contract. It gives a 6 percent pay hike in 1984-85 and no raise in 1985-86. Board action is pending.

Illinois Power's Wood River power plant was turned down by the Madison County Board of Review on Friday. IP wanted the $22 million assessment cut to $9 million.

In mail voting, 12,500 state professional employees chose last week to be represented by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, rejecting a bid by the Teamsters and also the option of no union.

Gary Hart defeated Walter Mondale 50 to 43 percent in Sunday's Maine caucuses on the Democratic presidential nomination. Hart earlier upset Mondale in the New Hampshire primary election. Mondale won Iowa caucuses.

With Alex Seith closing in on Paul Simon in polls for the Democratic U.S. senatorial nomination, Simon said in a televised debate Sunday night that Seith favors decontrol of natural gas prices. Seith disagreed and said Simon was indexing, which is intended to prevent inflation from pushing taxpayers into higher tax brackets. Simon warned that indexing could add to the U.S. budget deficit, causing interest rates to rise and blocking Illinois and U.S. economic recovery.

The Variety Club telethon for ailing children raised $1,028,000 in pledges Saturday night and Sunday. Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. sang and said he will return for next year's fund-raiser.

Madison County officials are supporting the E. St. Louis to Lambert Airport light-rail transit proposal if the East-West Gateway Council identifies future lines that would link it to this county.

A new state program requiring firms to deduct child support from employees' paychecks has been started at the Madison County Circuit Court.

In his renomination campaign Sen. Charles Percy last week cited the granting of a federal loan to aid A.O. Smith Corp. in reopening its Granite City plant. He also noted the start of lock-dam replacement work and told of attempts to fund a second new river lock. The second lock and creation of a second Chain of Rocks Canal harbor here are experiencing delays because of disagreement over whether they should be financed by U.S. taxes or waterway user fees.

Resale of one-family homes rose 4.9 percent in January to its highest total since November 1980. The current annual rate is three million.

Pres. Ronald Reagan, Republican, continues to lead all Democratic presidential contenders in Illinois polls.

Metropolitan newspapers vying for morning readers and revenue

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Losing the facilities which it had been printed for the past 25 years, the Globe-Democrat finds itself the underdog in a fierce newspaper fight even though it has been the leader in daily circulation since circulation began.

The two St. Louis papers differ sharply over who will be the underdog in future years.

Their rivalry intensified Feb. 27 when the Post-Dispatch switched from afternoon to morning publication. By its own wishes, it is meeting the morning Globe in direct, head-to-head competition.

IF THE GLOBE can counterpunch and survive for a few rounds, its lower operating cost ultimately could make it the winner or co-winner.

But the 105-year-old P-D is trying for a quick knockout of its "newborn" 131-year-old foe, in the hope of becoming the metropolitan area's only regional paper.

Part of the Globe's platemaking and pressroom production is occurring at the Press-Record but this article includes no trade secrets or inside information. Facts already in the public domain make it clear that a fascinating, perhaps unprecedented, confrontation is under way.

The battle is in the first round—even though the Globe has existed since the pre-Civil War era—because of the big changeover that occurred when the Gluck family bought the Globe from the Newhouse family, owner since 1955.

WHAT CHANGED HANDS was the name, the paper's "good will," its contracts for certain comics and commentators, and its list of Flippings and biographies. Little else was owned by the Globe at the time the sale became final nine days ago.

Continuity was maintained, against steep odds that this would be impossible.

No issues were missed and no subscribers were ignored. Familiar Globe features remain. All of the comic strips have been retained, and existing news and editorial policies have been continued.

But many of the chores that needed to be done to produce a daily paper were brand new to the old and new employees who accepted the challenge.

THERE ARE a new publisher, associate publisher, general manager, managing editor, advertising director, retail ad producer, circulation director, associate editor, assistant managing editor, news editor, city editor, assistant city editor, sports editor, feature editor, "Livings" section editor, Sunday magazine editor, editorial cartoonist and television-radio editor, not to mention a number of new advertising, reporting, clerical, accounting, circulation and business employees.

With that many people in different roles than before, some start-up problems were inevitable, despite their considerable talent.

Illinois lottery results were missing from the first issue, causing General Manager Richard Amberg's phone to ring constantly. Page 1 weather forecasts were left out the first night and in early copies the third night.

Layout and makeup staffs also were new to their tasks, and there was unfamiliarity with new computer terminals (on which information is "typed" by hand to produce type images photographically).

DEADLINES were difficult to meet and other factors delayed delivery of the completed newspapers. Nevertheless, "bugs" in the process were ironed out rapidly and the product showed improvement each day.

The Newhouses had been sharing 50-50 with the Pulitzer in the joint Post-Globe agency and they are to continue to split profits for at least the next 100 years at what they thought would be the lone surviving daily.

Aided by Uncle Sam and some borrowed money, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Gluck succeeded, to the surprise of many, in keeping St. Louis a two-newspaper town. But it was not easy.

Unable to get much of its sales pitch into the early and mid-February issues of the Globe, the new Globe staff saw the classified and display advertising volume decline. Ads remained sparse in the opening week of the Gluck era, but there are predictions of an upturn.

Denied access to the P-D press because it was to be used to print a morning Post, the Globe found itself with no "breathing room" last week. There was no interim period, no alternative but to seek instant answers for a multitude of problems.

A DEGREE of cooperation was shown by all parties during the transition, but in many respects the Globe had only a weekend to "get its act together" and perform tasks that it had not handled for a generation.

Mechanical production responsibilities had been assumed by the Post in 1959, and since 1979 there had been no separate Globe staff for business, retail advertising, classified and circulation duties.

The Post, a for-profit business, had every right to invade the morning field, just as the Globe had the right to drop its Saturday "weekend edition" in favor of the Sunday paper that made its debut yesterday.

But it was not accidental that the Post decided to move to morning publication on the same day that the Globe was going to press for the first time under its new management.

The name of the game was pressure, and it was—and is—unrelenting. The Post had the advertising lead already, aided by its more intense concentration of readers in the City and County of St. Louis (174,000 vs. 158,000). If a store decides to advertise in only one paper, it is extra tough for the underdog.

RIDING THE CREST of its city-county lead, the Post is charging $7,500 for a page ad Sunday and $5,200 weekdays, compared to the Globe's $4,960.

With a bulkier product already, the Post made it even thicker by greatly increasing the number of columns, comics, features and analytical articles.

Aided by its long experience in operating its own press, the Post made extensive use of color photographs last week. Its press speed and capacity enabled it to print many thousands of extra copies to either give away or sell at a discount.

The P-D has more employees and pays them higher salaries. It has added newcomers to beef up its Illinois and suburban Missouri news and general news. Zoned sections are being printed twice a week instead of once a week.

Aware that it has a lot of ground to make up in Illinois, trailing the Globe by 19,000 (P-D) to 53,000 (G-D) weekdays, the Post has become more aggressive in going after Madison St. Clair counties news.

NOT SURPRISINGLY in the context of the circulation competition now going on, the P-D discovered last week that "bribery" abounds in this county. The next day, it admitted that many of the content just the opposite is true—that a high level of integrity exists. Most of what was said in the first story seemed to be a rehash of year-old, still-unproven allegations.

If a fast knockout of the Globe were to occur, the Post's massive financial investment would be viewed as a wise step.

On the other hand, if the Globe convinces advertisers that it is going to be around a long time, the financial shoe could begin to pinch the Post.

Rather than the extreme scenarios of the other paper surviving and one failing, most people seem to be hopeful that both will be able to continue indefinitely.

ST. LOUISANS supported 23 daily newspapers in 1954. But 1984 is the first year since 1919 that two morning papers have fought for readers' attention.

Clive Progress, composed of the chief executives of 28 major companies, said in a public statement Thursday that "St. Louis will be a better-adjusted and healthier community if it continues to enjoy the benefits of being served by two metropolitan daily newspapers instead of only one."

"We need the continued presence of two voices in interpreting contrasting ideas and attitudes about our community."

At least partly because it had no same-day competition, the Sunday P-D has been hugely successful for a number of years, leading the "weekend Globe" 454,000 to 243,000, and the management hopes that this luster will roll off on the six other morning Posts each week.

However, despite a big push for the P-D's "start a new day" theme, a change in the normal publishing pattern often causes a temporary circulation loss rather than a gain.

So, the P-D enjoys a number of advantages but also faces some disadvantages.

FOR THE TIME BEING, the Post has settled on a Monday to Friday pattern plus Sunday.

The Post will not skip any days, reminiscent of the Globe of the 1940s and 1950s, and the P-D this weekend markedly increased the size of its Saturday edition.

The chronology of the fight that has developed includes 1959, when the Globe sold its press and building to the Post; 1961, when the two papers entered into a joint operating agreement; 1970, when the Newspaper Preservation Act was adopted to aid failing newspapers in reducing their costs; 1975, when profit sharing was begun by the two dailies; and 1979, when the Post's percentage received from the joint agency was reduced to 50 percent.

On Nov. 7, 1983, it was announced the Globe would bow out Dec. 31. A purchase agreement was reached

Dec. 23, delaying any shutdown, but Gluck withdrew Jan. 6 after the Newspaper Guild rejected the Newhouses' plan to limit liability for retirees' severance pay.

A temporary restraining order was sought (to bar any abrupt G-D closing) when it was learned that the Post was considering a Jan. 9 morning edition.

The Justice Department persuaded the Newhouse interests to reopen negotiations with a Gluck lawsuit, meanwhile, was filed by the St. Louis mayor, the Newspaper Guild, some Globe employees and the Missouri attorney general. A final purchase plan was agreed to on Jan. 16, effective Feb. 25.

CIVILITY prevailed during most of the winter but the Post was outraged by some of the mayor's comments on Pulitzer-Newhouse cost sharing.

A temporary restraining order questioned the financial strength and past publishing performance of Gluck. It also disagreed with his arithmetic on how many G-D staff members accepted retirement and how many continued to work.

The Globe while it was still under Newhouse had little to say about what was happening or how fair the situation was. But those whose jobs or pensions appeared to be in jeopardy were given a boost occasionally in unlikely places, such as the sports column of Bob Burnes. A paragraph here and there helped keep hopes and concerns alive during weeks of uncertainty.

Burnes summed up his feelings in his final Bench Warner column: "I was sick at heart, not only over the pending cessation but over the way it was done. (I felt) the Globe and newspaper were being sold. The Newspaper Preservation Act to defeat the purpose of the act. Because nobody else was writing much about it, I used the sports column or two to point up some of the problems."

THE NEW Globe management did not have a voice—except on television news and panel programs—until its first issue Feb. 27. On that date, it wasted no time in declaring editorially that the "tradition of 'hail and farewell'" to those who had retired.

Saying flatly that the Pulitzer and Newhouses had wanted to keep the kill of the Globe to give the surviving paper more economic leverage, the "new" G-D presented what some might regard as a bit of evidence.

Although the demise of the paper never came extremely close to occurring (unless a sudden shutdown announcement was being privately considered for issuance), the former Globe owner either eagerly or somberly prepared a "final day" Page 1 mockup. Gluck reproduced it Feb. 27.

An old friend says goodbye" was the giant, double-banner headline. Another front page headline said, "Lack of presses forced six potential Globe buyers."

A PHOTO showing an empty newspaper was titled "Day's end, paper's end." It related that "the paper has been put to bed." The writers, editors, photographers and artists have all gone home. They won't be back.

(As it turned out, the "lack of presses" was remedied by contracting with three companies to produce the Globe on their presses.)

A montage of historic Globe front pages, including the sinking of the Titanic, the invasion of Europe, the assassination of Pres. John F. Kennedy and the resignation of Pres. Richard M. Nixon, was featured in the tentative final-day layout, the images being topped by a small replica of the front page of the "final edition."

Making use of the same artwork, the new Globe has deleted the "final edition," leaving "Nixon resigns" on top of the stack of 11 papers. The historic headlines are now running as a Globe ad which concludes: "Don't wake up with a stranger. We've been with you 131 years."

BOTH PAPERS believe their statements and actions in recent months were appropriate at all times.

The Post is widely considered to be one of the top newspapers in the nation and world. It spares no expense in serving its readers, as attested to by its $30 million yearly payroll for a staff of 1,250.

It has won 16 coveted Pulitzer prizes over the years, compared to the Globe's two.

The Globe's ability to catch up with and pass the Post in circulation six and a half years ago, adding to its lead since then, is attributed by some persons to greater attention to distant "communities" news, including rural Missouri. This results in a bigger total circulation but fails to impress department stores and other close-to-home advertisers.

Other people say the Globe gained the lead by doing a better job on local news while the Post was paying more attention to Washington and foreign news.

STILL OTHERS praise both papers but say they feel more comfortable with the Globe's conservative editorial stand.

To counteract this, the Post has just started publishing conservative as well as liberal political columns and cartoons. Its editorialists remain staunchly liberal.

With 37 Globe retirees having 1,193 years of experience in newspaper work, a relatively young staff has taken charge. Patrick Gauen, the top editor, who was formerly with the Collinsville Herald, is 33. Gluck is 61 and Amberg is 41.

"Never let your competitor sell your ads" is the lesson Gluck thinks the Globe has learned. He also is the publisher of two magazines, Missouri Life and the Saturday Review of Literature.

He says, "The Globe is a successful paper that was saddled with a business relationship that worked against it. It has a strong reputation, a strong identity, its editorial page is much more in tune with St. Louis than the Post's."

"We have a paper that people love, and we're not going to change it. The Post has to convince its readers to change their reading habits from afternoon to morning."

That's a much bigger job than constructing the people that the Globe is still the Globe.

"PROBLEMS" the Globe had were related to finances, not to its editorial appearance or topics. We're going to turn around the paper by selling our own ads."

Joseph Pulitzer Jr., editor of the Post since 1955 and a grandson of its founder, has announced a 25 percent increase in its news content, plus distribution to 125 additional cities in Illinois and Missouri.

Wearing a paper hat for the first morning-edition press run, he said, "The Post-Dispatch enters the morning field in high spirit, its mission to render public service undiminished."

The P-D said editorially, "We make the transformation full of excitement, hope and confidence. Our ideals and the concept of our journalistic mission are not subject to modification merely because the newspaper embodying them arrives on your lawn before breakfast instead of in the afternoon."

NEWSWEEK magazine said the P-D has won more crusades than any other American daily. "In 1950, a three-month Post series on 'progress or decay' helped trigger redevelopment."

P-D Managing Editor David Lipman said last week, "After years of fighting rush-hour traffic, we now have the time and opportunity to significantly improve our content. We continue to strive for the most comprehensive and balanced news report possible, and we also will provide the broadest possible collection of useful information and entertainment."

Bill Tiefenbrun, Post layout editor, previously began work at midnight to plan each day's initial edition. Numerous other staff started in the wee hours. Now, most work normal daytime hours.

For them, it truly is "a new day."

Two IP employees end 66 years of service to community

Last week, two Illinois Power Company employees who had 66 years of service to the community between them retired from their jobs.

Leaving the company were Fred Cunningham, a Granite City resident, who had worked for the utility company 29 years, and Jo Meyer, a Collinsville resident who was employed by the company 37 years.

Cunningham, 62, started out as a credit department worker with the company and gradually moved up to the position from which he retired, customer service officer.

Mrs. Meyer started out as a home economist consumer information representative and retired with the position of marketing advisor.

Although both had very different jobs, they shared the same feelings about the company for which they worked. "This has been a good company to spend my life with," said Cunningham. "Illinois Power is good to its employees and its customers."

Mrs. Meyer said she has always enjoyed her work. "The company has excellent management," she said.

But both have seen big changes in the company over the years they have worked. "When I first started with the company, we were really promoting the use of appliances in the kitchen and the household," said Mrs. Meyer. "But as time went on, our job changed to being the person who told customers how to conserve energy."

Cunningham said that in his experience he has seen the office become "more automated. We've gone through about four different systems for billing, with each one making the system better than it was before," he said. "The newest system helps take care of the customer that much better."

When asked if working for a utility company had more than the usual amount of stress involved, Cunningham nodded in agreement. "The general public is harder to deal with year after year — but I guess that's understandable since the rates keep going up," he said.

"On the other hand, though, I have been associated with some very nice people through the years. I would say that the majority of people have been more than cooperative."

Mrs. Meyer said she feels that a lot of the complaints from people are simply a misunderstanding. "I think it's important for the general public to have a better understanding of what the power company does for its customers," she said.

Cunningham and Mrs. Meyer have been very active in the community during their employment at Illinois Power. Mrs. Meyer has been associated with the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, the United Way, the Red Cross, the Illinois Home Economics Association State Board, the Audubon Society, the Vocational Advisory Council for Granite City High School and the Coordinated Youth Services Board.

Cunningham has had an equally busy schedule, devoting time to the Granite City Planning Commission, the Elks Club, the YMCA, the Optimist Club, the Granite City Housing Authority, the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, the Red Cross and the Advisory Board of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Cunningham said he plans to spend most of his retirement time "golfing in Florida." He said he has purchased some land near Tampa, Fla., where he is building a second home. "I plan to spend half my time in Florida golfing and the other half in my home in Granite City."

Mrs. Meyer said she plans to do some traveling in her free time. "There's a lot of the United States I haven't seen yet," she said. She also plans to do some bird watching and participate in some swimming programs.

"I hope to stay in touch with some of the customers I have dealt with through the years and I want to continue to be active in some civic group," she said.

Both employees will be honored at a company banquet on Wednesday, March 8, in Collinsville.

Enters two pleas in court appearance

In a court appearance at 1:30 p.m. Monday, Jack A. Est, 20, of 64 Kaseberg Park, Ponton Beach, pleaded guilty to criminal damage to property and was fined $375 and given until April 13 to pay. On a second charge of criminal trespass to land, Est pleaded innocent and was released on his own recognizance.

The arrest action resulted from Est's court earlier this week at a home in the 2200 block of Alexander Street, where the woman resident alleged that Est refused to leave when requested, but finally left upon learning police were enroute. Officers were recalled to the address two hours later and alleged Est was on the front porch. At that point he was charged with criminal trespass. He allegedly became unruly in the squad car, kicking the door panels and then refusing to go into a cell at police headquarters, reports said.

While in custody, Est became violent, beating his head against the wall and tearing up a mattress, throwing pieces of padding about the area, it was alleged. He was subsequently booked on the criminal damage charge.

Jury in GC awards $80,000 to woman

A jury in Granite City awarded $80,000 last week to Ida Grann, of East St. Louis. The verdict was against Holiday Inn of Mount Vernon, Ill., and Holiday Inns, Inc.

Mrs. Griffin, age 69, was injured when she slipped and fell on rocks while walking on a sidewalk of the Holiday Inn of Mount Vernon, July 10, 1977. She sustained an aggravation of a pre-existing neck injury and alleged an aggravation of a previous hip injury.

Plaintiff was represented by Rick Robson of Belleville, and the defendants were represented by Robert D. Francis and Harold A. Donovan.

The case was tried at the Granite City Hall before Circuit Judge George Moran Jr.

State aid down to 38% of school costs

Illinois' State Board of Education last week passed a resolution calling on Gov. James Thompson and the General Assembly to "demonstrate that education is truly the state's top priority by supporting the appropriation levels outlined in the State Board's proposed budget for fiscal 1985."

The budget would provide $2.666 billion in state general revenue funds. That level includes a $285 million (14.8 percent) increase for education programs and administration and a $190 million (88.9 percent) increase for the state's teacher retirement systems.

In addition, $45.3 million in federal funds and another $14.3 million in state funds set aside for driver education bring the total 1984-85 budget to $3.056 billion, up 18.3 percent over 1983-84.

This budget would reverse the eight-year trend of decline in the state's proportional share of education support," State Superintendent of Education Donald Gill said. "The state's share has dropped from 48.4 percent to about 38.3 percent, and the board's budget would still only raise that to about 41 percent."

"It's time Illinois stopped shrinking its responsibilities to our schools and students," Gill said.

General state aid funds (GSA), which offer local school districts the most spending flexibility, would increase 11.3 percent in FY 85, to $1.6 billion.

However, that GSA level is still only 5.4 percent or $2 million more than the FY 82 general state aid appropriation.

GSA funds are distributed to districts through a special statutory formula that takes into account several variables, including school district type, pupil attendance, local assessed valuation and local property taxes.

The board's FY 85 budget also provides for full funding for the categorical programs funded by statutory formulas—special education, regular and vocational transportation, and the Illinois free lunch and breakfast program. Most of these programs are actually reimbursing school districts for prior year expenditures, but state revenue shortage have caused many districts' claims to be prorated instead of fully funded in recent years.

Those categorical programs would be slated for a 15.3 percent increase over FY 84 appropriations—$67.6 million in new dollars for an FY 85 total of $440.4 million.

Other categorical programs—those without statutory formulas—would get a 56.2 percent or $45.2 million rise in appropriations during FY 85. These programs, which include transitional bilingual education, adult education, gifted education, vocational education and the textbook program, together would receive $125.6 million.

The two largest individual increases would go to vocational education and textbooks.

Vocational education's $53.3 million would raise its FY 84 level by 81.2 percent and end a long period of prostration.

The textbook program would receive a 109.1 percent rise for a $23 million total—enough to purchase one textbook for each student in the state.

A number of special programs would receive substantial increases. A total of $28.4 million would be allocated to such programs as high-impact training services ($2 million), the computer consortia project ($1.5 million), education for technology employment ($1.2 million), an expanded master teacher program ($5 million), assistance for equal educational opportunity (13 million), an Illinois principalship academy ($150,000) and alcohol and drug abuse education ($200,000).

Minor traffic offenses no longer require posting bail

Captain Bobby L. Henry Sr., commander of State Police District 11 at Collinsville is reminding motorists of a new bonding procedure for traffic offenses initiated as the result of the adoption of a Non-Resident Violator Compact by Illinois.

In the past, any Illinois person who violated a minor traffic law in Illinois was required to post his driver's license, or $50 cash, or a bail bond card as a guarantee for his court appearance. Out-of-state drivers could not post their driver's license and only had the option of a cash bond or a bail bond card.

The new Non-Resident Violator Compact now permits the violator from Illinois or any of the compact states to sign a statement, "I promise to comply with the terms of this citation," and be released for future appearance on minor traffic violations. Some specific violations still require bonding, as in the past. Failure to appear in any state will result in possible suspension of the violator's driver's license.

The new compact has been agreed to by 29 states with Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Indiana being included. Questions concerning the new Non-Resident Violator Compact may be directed to the Collinsville State Police headquarters.

SIUE budget recommendations shown to President Lazerson

Evaluations and budget recommendations for approximately 100 non-instructional units at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been approved by the University Planning and Budget Council (UPBC) for transmittal to President Earl Lazerson.

Phase II of a plan for academic programs and non-instructional units at SIUE, the recommendation report was prepared by the Long Range Planning Committee (LRPC) on the basis of questionnaires completed by the affected units, interviews with the directors of the units and discussions within the committee in the presence of the ex-officio directors of the functional areas.

PRESIDENT LAZERSON said the report will be considered for possible implementation in Fiscal Year 1985, but he said he will not make recommendations concerning the plan until it has been reviewed by constituency groups and until he has received comments from unit directors who would be affected by the proposed changes.

The president said Phase II is the second step in a continuing planning process that will periodically review programs with the twin objectives of improving the quality of the university and its ability to respond to societal needs.

The president added that the evaluation process will be coordinated with the university's self-study, which has been launched in preparation for the 10-year review of the institution's accreditation status by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, scheduled for April 1986.

THE FIRST phase of the long range plan approved by the UPBC regarding prioritization of academic programs, was transmitted to the president on Nov. 9 and is going through the same review process as Lazerson outlined for Phase II. A third phase of the long range plan will examine the units at the University that are funded by student fees.

John Meisel, chairman of the LRPC, said to make fiscal recommendations for non-instructional units, the committee used the same budget categories as in Phase I, inserting units into one of five categories, with each one suggesting an incremental budget recommendation: maintenance (of the current level of University resources), increase, major increase, reduction and major reduction. Each recommendation is based on the Fiscal Year 1984 budget.

In the questionnaire, the LRPC asked each unit to respond to a number of concerns: the unit's mission, the unit's major activities and/or functions, projections of demand for the service of the unit, the unit's budget and the extent to which the unit's activities and/or functions overlapped those of another unit.

THE LRPC also solicited responses on the following issues: 1) how would the unit respond to a 10 percent budget cut; 2) how does the unit compare in terms of expenditures and services provided with similar units in other universities in the state and 3) what are the most important and least important activities or function performed by the unit.

Meisel said the committee evaluated each non-instructional unit against the following criteria: 1) the essentiality of the service or function the unit performs to support the mission of the university; 2) the cost of providing the services of the unit relative to the LRPC's expectations based upon various sources of information of appropriate cost; 3) the extent to which a unit meets the demand for its services and 4) the satisfaction of the users with respect to the quality of the actual output or service from the unit.

Various surveys were used to evaluate relative cost, user satisfaction, and the level of services in relation to the existing demand.

Senior Olympics to be conducted earlier this year

The Southwestern Illinois Regional senior Olympics are scheduled May 11 and 12 this year, according to Reba Klenke, coordinator in the Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Mrs. Klenke said this year's Olympics have been scheduled for May, rather than September, because the weather in May should be more suitable for field and track competition. The schedule has also been expanded into a two-day program to permit senior citizens to participate in more events, she said.

LAST YEAR, more than 190 senior citizens athletes participated in events ranging from the high jump to swimming. This year's program will include basketball, horseshoes, discus throw, fly casting, golf putting, bowling, tennis, billiards, table tennis and swimming, in addition to the one-mile walk, one-mile run, standing and running broad, high jump, 50-yard dash, 100-yard and three-mile bicycle race.

Sponsored by the Southwest Illinois agency on Aging and the University, the Olympics are open to anyone 55 years or older. Registration is $4.50 for in-region participants and $6.50 for out-of-region participants. Regional participants are those living in the Illinois counties of St. Clair, Madison, Monroe, Clinton, Randolph or Washington.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Office of Continuing Education at 1-692-3210.

Student Program Board hosts talent act

The Student Program Board (SPB) of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is looking for student acts for its annual talent show, to be conducted Wednesday, May 16, at the university.

Applications are available at the SPB office, Room 1088 in the University Center. Application deadline is Monday, April 9. A student performing in a solo act must be enrolled at SIUE during spring quarter. Fifty percent of a group act must also be enrolled at the university during spring quarter.

ALL ACTS must audition. Auditions will be held Monday, April 16, through Friday, April 20. Acts will be judged on appearance, talent, showmanship, professionalism and rapport with the audience. "All in all, they will be judged on if they're in the show," said Bob Becker, program adviser of the SPB.

Dress rehearsal will be May 15 in the Meridian Ballroom. Acts chosen for the talent show must attend the rehearsal.

First prize is $500 and second prize is $100. Third prize is a $50 American Express Dinner Certificate, which is good in any restaurant that accepts the American Express Card. Cash

Teacher's center receives grant

The Teachers' Center Project at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has received a $15,000 grant from the Jessie Smith Noyes Foundation of New York City, according to Vaughn J. Lindsay, dean of the graduate school.

The grant will help support a series of workshops for the next three years. During 1984, workshops are scheduled at California State University at Fullerton, Boulder, Colorado Public Schools and at SIUE.

EDITH N. MUMA, foundation president, said it is hoped that monies from the grant will be used to find more effective ways of teaching at the secondary school level.

The Teachers' Center Project at the university has sponsored summer workshops for local elementary and secondary teachers since 1971. David Lingard, chairperson for the United Kingdom's representation to the International Commission on Mathematics Education, will be a visiting scholar at SIUE this summer. He will be teaching the summer course with Thomas O'Brien, director of the project. The summer session is planned for the week of Aug. 13.

THE PURPOSE of the project is to provide a supportive environment in which teachers can grow and develop their skills, as well as acquire new ones. O'Brien said. A professor of education at the university, O'Brien is an authority in teaching mathematics and on the relationship of mathematical skills in the overall development of the child.

Additional information concerning the Teachers' Center Project or the summer workshop is available by contacting O'Brien by calling 1-692-3082.

Illinois a key state for Democratic presidential nomination competitors

GC TALK by George McGovern on Saturday night, Nov. 4, 1972, preceded his loss to Pres. Richard M. Nixon three days later. Among those in the background as the nominee spoke in the Granite City High School gymnasium were Appellate Clerk Walter "Buck" Simmons, Congressman Melvin Price and County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer. McGovern is seeking the Democratic nomination again in 1984, facing such candidates as (clockwise from the right) Walter Mondale, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, Sen. John Glenn and Sen. Gary Hart. The Illinois primary is March 20. Reubin Askew and Sen. Alan Cranston withdrew after Hart's win in New Hampshire. Tuesday, but remain on the Illinois ballot.

ELECTION DAY

Man wields knife; robs store, patron

A man 5-10 in height and weighing 180 pounds carried out a robbery at 1:35 p.m. Thursday at the Parkway Confectionery, 2701 Michigan. He ran toward Benton Street and then Fehling Road. His clothing included a dark jacket, and his hair was dark brown and collar length. Wearing a stocking mask, the robber had entered the store and placed a ten-inch knife against the stomach of Stanley Karblan of the 2500 block of Lynch Avenue. Karblan was operating the confectionery; also there was Jerome Weingartner of St. Louis. Telling the operator to "give me your money," the bandit turned to Weingartner and said, "Give me your money, too." The latter placed his wallet on a counter and complied with an order to lie face down on the floor. The intruder took about $40 from the wallet and looted the cash register of $40 and food stamps worth $20. Ripping a telephone loose from its wiring, the robber carried it away and dropped it in the 3200 block of Fehling.

Host families sought for foreign students

The American Scandinavian Student Exchange (ASSE) is seeking local families to serve as hosts for Scandinavian, German, Swiss and British high school students who are part of the ASSE exchange visitor program, according to Susan Hayes, western director of ASSE. The non-profit ASSE is affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Departments of Education and is officially designated by the U. S. Information Agency as an Exchange Visitor Program.

The students, 16 and 17 years old, are fluent in English and are carefully screened and selected for the program based on their high school performance, good character and interest in the ASSE program. All of them are covered by comprehensive medical and liability insurance and have adequate money for personal needs, supplied by their parents. The host family furnishes meals and housing. The ASSE program offers families the opportunity to share North American culture and educational experiences with a European young person and, at the same time, to learn about another culture and language. Area representatives, provided by ASSE will contact the host family and guest student on a regular basis to assure that everything is going smoothly. Families interested in serving as hosts for the 1984-85 school year may contact ASSE's local area representative, David and Cathy Nenninger at 200 Wilson Park Lane, or call 876-4192 after 5 p.m.
